Archbishop Carrigan's Letter.

April 24.—[Special.]—The secretary sent to the house this morning, in response to a resolution, all correspondence of the department regarding the proposed American college in Rome. The principal results of negotiation upon the subject are already known, and most of the letters have been published. Following is a letter from Archbishop Carrigan to Secretary Frelinghuysen, writing upon the receipt of the news that the college had been exempted from sale:

NEW YORK, April 1st.

Hon. Frelinghuysen, secretary of state, Washington—Dear Sir: In the name of Cardinal McCloskey I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of the 28th ult., which conveys the intelligence that the American college has been exempted from sale pending the proceedings. His eminence begs leave to return sincere thanks to his excellency the president, and to Mr. Astor, resident at Rome, for his very courteous, prompt and efficacious action in the matter, besides expressing his sense of gratitude for the good offices of the government so wisely and successfully interposed. The cardinal is sure that in the premises make himself the interpreter of the gratitude of other bishops of the United States, as well as of the entire Catholic population. I have the honor to be, dear sir, very respectfully your obedient servant,

M. A. CARRIGAN,
Coadjutor Archbishop.

Almost Ready for the Arctic.

April 24.—[Special.]—Orders have been issued by the navy department making out details of officers to command the arctic supply steamer Alert, now being fitted out at New York. They are: Commander Geo. W. Coffin, late on duty at Portsmouth; executive officer—Lieut. Badger, Lieut. Emory, ensigns, S. H. McClain, A. A. Ackley; W. E. B. Chambers; passed assistant surgeon; W. H. Nauman, engineer. The Alert took with her from England 3000 pounds of gun cotton to be used in breaking way through in case the vessel should get jammed in the ice. It was procured in England because a sufficient supply could not be prepared at New York in time. The tug Triana has been sent to Newport with a party of experts on board, for the purpose of making necessary arrangements for having the gun cotton ready in case of emergency. Chief Constructor Wilson left for New York last night to inspect the Alert.

Scandal in High Life.

April 24.—Troubles in a family occupying a high social station, which have been on the surface for some time, to-day took tangible form in the shape of a suit for divorce brought by Elizabeth Marshall Carroll against Samuel S. Carroll, general on the retired list of the army. The charge is adultery, alleged to have been committed with a notorious woman of this city. The petitioner alleges that they were married on September 8, 1856, by Rev. Dr. Schuyler, and that her maiden name was Helen Bennett; that since then he has been guilty of these offences, for the sake of her children she lived in the hope that he would abandon his vicious course, and continued with him; but his conduct has been gradually growing worse and therefore she now seeks the protection of the law. The parties are well known in military circles throughout the country, General Carroll having reached a high rank during the war, and Mrs. Carroll being connected with some of the most distinguished families.

Washington Notes.

April 24.—J. C. Burrows, of Michigan, was nominated and confirmed solicitor of the treasury. He was notified by the president, for naval affairs.

The treasury to-day purchased 334,000 ounces of silver for the subsidiary mints.

Mr. Rice of California to-day reported to the house a bill to punish by fine or imprisonment the forging of passports.

To-day's Weather.

April 24.—North Pacific coast local rains, and partly cloudy weather. California, fair weather.

House.

WASHINGTON, April 22.

In speaking on the naval appropriation bill, whatsoever he looked he saw in progress movements directly hostile to our interests. If so did it behoove this house it would do it now. He would rather that see the Nicaragua route pass under the control of this government. He expressed surprise at the action of the democratic senate in refusing to appropriation for new vessels and the house estimate, and he hoped that in this house this end might, at the proper time, show, when it came to the question of national honor and national defence, there was no division, and he appealed to the house to help restore the old sentiment of the nation in the navy, which could not be done until our flag was put afloat on the seas, when the country was ready to defend it with its guns, and the country be exempt from that danger of war, which is ever present to every nation not prepared by blood and physical means to defend its honor.

Randall, in reply, said: No one on the democratic side of the house sympathized with that party, or was responsible for the paralysis of the navy, or was to be charged in that particular. The senate amendment to the naval bill increased the appropriation by four millions and a half dollars. Of this, $2,000,000 was for monitors, and $2,500,000 for new cruisers. That amendment was substantially on the speaker's table. He suggested that the house should not enter on the subject of cruisers in the bill, when there was a bill on that subject pending in the naval committee, which had been that increased the appropriation for cruisers. When the opportunity came, he said, he was willing to discuss it fully.

In reply to Randall the gavel fell, and Dorsheimer interrupted him, to say that the gentleman had promised to yield to him fifteen minutes.

Randall denied having made any such agreement, and had promised to cede the gentleman such time as he should depend upon the time consumed by the debate.

An angry dispute arose between the gentlemen on this point, in the course of which Randall said the gentleman from New York did not understand him as yielding fifteen minutes.

"I say that you did not," reiterated Randall. "I say my word against yours, and will let the house judge of it," continued Dorsheimer.

"Again," replied Randall, "that when the gentleman took the floor I said to the chairman that I yielded five minutes, and that fact all around here knows it."

Dorsheimer—"That I did not hear, but when I left the chair you gave me assurance that I should have fifteen minutes, and again I repeat I put my word against his."

Dorsheimer denied Randall's statement, and amid some confusion the committee arose.

A vote on the limitation of debate when the house again went into committee of the whole, then the house took a recess until 8 in the evening. The evening session is for debate on the tariff bill.

WASHINGTON, April 24.

A bill was passed for the relief of F. O. of Oregon.

The following reports from committees as follows: from the committee on commerce, making Tacoma and Seattle, W. T., ports of delivery; committee of the whole.

Also from the committee on foreign affairs, to enforce the claim of against the Venezuelan government; also, from the committee on territories, disapproving the legislature of Utah territory; house calendar.

Also, from the committee on territories, to provide for the admission of Tacoma as a state of the Union; committee of the whole.

The house went into committee of the whole, and offered for consideration the senate amendments to the naval appropriation bill.

The amendment appropriating $120,000 to complete outfit for the new cruisers was reached. Randall moved concurrence. He would move non-concurrence in all the senate amendments except this one. Agreed to—114 to 92.

He gave notice that he would demand the yeas and nays in the house.

Kelley of Pennsylvania moved to concur in the amendment for additional cruisers, with an amendment providing that at least three of the vessels be built in the United States navy yards.

Hewitt opposed the pending amendments, because he could demonstrate, if he had time, that it was to be a fund for the purpose of buying the presidential election, and it was to be done under pretence of being the laborers' friend.

He said the true record of democratic opposition to the navy had been shown to-day to be the true one of the navy.

A discussion followed upon the qualifications of the secretary of the navy, during which Hewitt stated that the secretary last September, in violation of congress, disposed of vessels and other property no longer of use to the government to the amount of and that though this sum was paid within thirty days from the date of purchase until within three weeks ago the proceeds of the sale had not been turned into the treasury. The secretary did not believe the secretary would appropriate any of this money, but when he left it to his subordinate in New York or Boston he shirked his duty. He (Hewitt) had found that the money received from the purchasing was deposited in an open check, and the secretary was unable to say from what account it was, that it was to the credit of the navy department, that he said not put a public charge on it which came into his custody and that it was in the treasury, as the law required.

Kelley said the actual report of the secretary would show that all the money received from sale of old material had been placed in the hands of the treasurer of the United States, and that with the sale were to be paid a

Hewitt took the clerk's desk and had read a letter from the secretary, stating that the proceeds of the sale were immediately deposited in the treasury. The reading of the letter was received with applause on the republican side.

Hewitt continued—Thank God he was not so unfortunate as to be compelled at all times to reason from the basis of distrust every public officer or employe. He thanked God that he did not believe that a public officer was put in such a strait as to make his conduct or leaders were founded on false premises against the honesty and honor of a public official.

Hewitt repeated his statement that on his inquiry at the treasury department he had been informed that the money had not been paid into the treasury. When an investigation was made it would be found, though the money might be in the custody of the treasurer, that it was not covered into the treasury as the law requires.

Cannon said the gentleman from New York had gone for malfeasance, and had succeeded in showing not only his ill will but his ignorance of the public reports of the departments.

O'Neill's motion was lost, and the remainder of the amendment was non-concurred in.

The committee rose, and the house agreed to its report.

The vote on concurrence in the ordnance amendment was yeas 153, nays 106.

Kasson withdrew his point of order which had sent the postoffice appropriation bill and the senate amendments to the committee of the whole, and the house, proceeding to their consideration, the amendments were non-concurred in.

The house then took a recess until 8 o'clock. The evening session is for debate of the tariff bill.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 24.

The chair laid before the senate a communication from the attorney general, requesting that immediate provision be made by joint resolution for the payment of jurors and witnesses for United States courts. The sum recommended is $60,000. The attorney general states that courts are in session all over the country and there is no money to pay the jurors or the witnesses.

A petition was presented and referred, by Miller of California, from the chamber of commerce of San Francisco, representing the helpless condition of the harbor of that city and urging the early completion of the Monadnock.

A bill was passed providing for the disposal of abandoned military reservations. It authorizes the president, whenever in his opinion any portion of a military reservation becomes useless, to place it in charge of the secretary of the interior, who shall have it surveyed, sub-divided, appraised and sold.

A bill amending the revised statutes relating to trespassers on Indian lands was passed. It adds imprisonment to the fine already provided for.

The chair laid before the senate unfinished business, being the bill to provide a bureau of animal industry and to suppress cattle diseases.

McPherson thought the bill defective, and moved its recommittal.

Morgan said the bill provided for a number of inspectors, who would be interested in keeping alive the impression that disease existed among the cattle of the country. Their continuance in office depended upon the fact, or the supposed fact, that such disease existed. The commissioner of agriculture should not be given power by which he might go into any state and slaughter animals, without the consent of owners. The owner of property should have an opportunity to be heard, and the bill should provide for such right.

While Plumb's motion was diverted the question was put on motion to recommit, and the chair, on a viva voce vote, had got so far as to announce that "the ayes seem to have it," when Plumb rose to speak. The chair said the only thing in order was as to whether there should be division of the senate. On the suggestion of Hoar, however, the matter was treated as though the question had not been put.

Plumb then addressed the senate, in reply to objections made to the bill, and in opposition to the motion to recommit. A recommittal would be the destruction of the bill, and an indication that the senate did not want to pass any bill on this subject of cattle diseases this session. All stock growing associations had passed resolutions favoring the bill, and every intelligent stock grower favored it. As to McPherson's criticism, that there was no pleuro-pneumonia in the country, Plumb pointed to the resolutions of the legislature of New Jersey, admitting its existence.

Coke said a great interest of his state had been assaulted and libelled, and the value in consequence depreciated by officials of the United States. The bulk of the testimony before the senate went to show there was no pleuro-pneumonia in the country. One gentleman had told him he had advanced $500,000 on cattle, and that he would lose half if not all his money. The cattle interests were suffering, and would suffer from this constant agitation.

Adjourned.

CONGRESSIONAL CHIT-CHAT.

A PASSAGE AT ARMS.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—[Special.]—The dry monotony in the house was relieved for a few moments this afternoon by a passage at arms between Randall and Dorsheimer of New York. The question was on non-concurrence in the house on the senate amendments to the naval appropriation bill. Randall wanted the bill referred to a conference committee, and Kasson and Reed wanted the question discussed. Randall had yielded five minutes to Dorsheimer, who has occupied it in favor of rehabilitation of the navy, and against the motion to non-concur in the senate amendment. The five minutes having expired, Dorsheimer took his seat, and Randall rose to speak, but he had no sooner got the floor than he was interrupted by Dorsheimer, who wanted to know if his time had expired. Being informed it had, he said he had supposed the gentleman from Pennsylvania had yielded him fifteen minutes. Randall replied that he had only yielded five. Dorsheimer again said that he supposed he had been given fifteen minutes. "You had no reason to suppose anything of the kind," said Randall rather sharply. "I say I did have fifteen minutes given me," retorted Dorsheimer. "I say you did not," said Randall. Both gentlemen were very much excited by this time, and the affair began to take on a serious look, but any further trouble was prevented by Kasson moving that the committee rise.

SECRETARY CHANDLER PRODUCES SOME FIGURES.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—In reply to a statement made by Representative Hewitt in the house to-day, in regard to the alleged failure of the secretary of the navy to deposit in the treasury the proceeds of a sale of old vessels, Secretary Chandler to-night says the amount realized from the sale of old vessels, as given in his annual report December 11, 1883, was, in round numbers, $384,000. From this amount $29,000, the sum bid for the Niagara, must be deducted, the sale having been subsequently cancelled. The remainder, $355,000, the secretary accounts for as follows: Deposited with United States treasurer, $275,000; deposited with assistant treasurer in San Francisco, $46,000; paid for breaking up the Canandaigua at Norfolk Connecticut, and for advertising in accordance with the law, $37,000. Total, $358,000. This excess of $3300 in the treasury over the amount to be accounted for is due to over payment on deposits by bidders. All deposits, Secretary Chandler says, were made by the navy department upon the receipt of purchase money from the various bidders.

MAJORITY REPORT ADVERSE TO WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The house committee on judiciary to-day submitted four reports relative to extending the right of suffrage to women. An adverse majority report was prepared by Maybury, and says in part: "To permit the entrance of political contention into a home would be either useless or pernicious, useless if man and wife agree, and pernicious if they differ. In the former event the volume of ballots alone would be increased without a change in results; in the latter peace and contentment in the home would be exchanged for the bedlam of political debate and become the scene of base and demoralizing intrigue."

Dorsheimer, while concurring with the majority in recommending that the matter be laid on the table, says: "I think it probable that the interests of society will soon require that woman should have the right of suffrage, but I am not willing to say more than that the present is not an opportune time for the submission to states of the proposed amendment."

FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN THE NORTHWEST.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—[Special.]—The Pacific coast members of congress appeared before the house committee on rivers and harbors yesterday morning, in relation to appropriations asked for by the engineers in charge of improvements in California, Oregon and Washington territory. Senators Slater, Farley and Dolph and Representatives Budd, Henley, Tully, Glascock and George, and Delegate Brents were present. Senators Slater and Dolph, and Representative George and Delegate Brents each spoke in favor of the rivers of Oregon and Washington territory. Following are the recommendations of the engineers for these rivers: Lower Willamette and Columbia rivers, $242,000; upper Willamette and Columbia rivers, $300,000; Cowlitz and Snake rivers, $56,000; Cascades canal, $500,000; Coos bay, $150,000; Yaquina bay, $140,000; Coquille bay, $50,000; Cowlitz river, $6000 and the Skagit, Chehalis and other rivers small sums.

A BILL BY ROSECRANS.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The bill to amend the revised statutes relating to merchandise in United States public stores or bonded warehouses introduced by Rosecrans, provides that "All merchandise which may be deposited in a public store or bonded warehouse may be withdrawn by the owner for exportation to a foreign country, or may be transhipped to any port of the Pacific or west coast of the United States at any time before the expiration of three years from the date of the original importation, such goods, on arrival at the Pacific or western port, to be subjected to the same rules and regulations as if originally imported there. Any goods on which duties have not been fully paid, remaining in public store or bonded warehouse beyond three years, shall be regarded as abandoned to the government."

LOGAN AND LINCOLN.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—[Special.]—A story is current here to the effect that there is a collision between General Logan and Secretary Lincoln, growing out of the presidential aspirations of each. Its said President Garfield first offered the war department to Logan, who declined, and named Lincoln for the position, with the understanding that Lincoln should not put his finger in the presidential pie, thereby injuring Logan's chances. This compact, as far as Illinois is concerned, was complied with, as Senator Logan's strength in the state is not divided, but the senator thinks that the spirit if not the letter of this compact was violated by Lincoln, and that his friends are working the Lincoln boom in other states.

FAVORS MORRISON'S BILL.

Wheat Export.

NEW YORK, April 24.—[Special.]—The Journal of Commerce says the position of the export trade in wheat has been for some time a difficult problem to answer. A reporter had a short interview with Darling Bingham, who said England had much larger stocks of wheat than usual at this season of the year. Supplies now coming to them are not sufficient to meet their wants. India and Australia are offering wheat of the new crop to arrive during the summer at about current prices. The bulk of the stock in England and of offerings mentioned is composed of white wheat. This does not give the strength English people prefer in their flour. English millers will be waiting to buy fair quality of our spring wheat to grind with their interior wheat. If there is any considerable advance here in prices it will check the demand, but if prices remain at or near the present figures they will be able probably to use the bulk of our surplus wheat. Any great pressure to sell, however, would force their prices down. The fine red winter wheat of this country will all be needed by our local millers. The No. 1 red now in granary in New York and Toledo is not at for the English market, and will probably be sent to the continent. The grade has been mixed down too low for use either in home or English markets. There appears to be now about 20,500,000 bushels of wheat of visible supply, which can be spared for export, and if this amount is exported it will leave us with but a small stock to begin the new crops. The California crop was placed at high figures, and a large amount of it was consigned to English markets for sale; but it was found that No. 1 wheat of this year was not equal to number two of last year, and in consequence cargoes were forced upon the market. The usual result followed—a break in prices and but little demand. A good deal of spring wheat has gone out of here in the shape of flour. This is owing to the fact that English millers have been changing their stones for rollers and have not been able therefore to grind their usual quantity, but we look for a decreased proportion of wheat going in the form of flour.

Indian Fight in Lower Colorado.

DENVER, April 24.—A. Johnson, who was present at the recent battle between the Navajoes and the whites at Mitchell's place, on the lower San Juan river, southern Colorado, arrived at Durango to-day. Johnson says: "Myself, Wm. Grove and V. Neff arrived at Mitchell's store on the evening of the 15th. A party of a dozen Navajoe Indians came to the store. One drew a gun on Edward Mitchell. While the quarrel was in progress a Navajoe named Rye Lilly commenced removing the buckskin from his rifle. Other Indians ran for their guns that were standing against the store. Both Indians and whites began firing. After about twenty-five shots had been exchanged the Indians retreated, leaving one dead. None of the whites were hurt. The whites then proceeded to throw up fortifications, while the women showed great nerve, carrying tubs of water to supply them in case of siege. Johnson then started for Fort Lewis. The commanding officer immediately started a squad of mounted cavalry to the relief of Mitchells. When they reached Bowen's ferry a Navajoe who came in reported that the Utes had killed all the whites at Mitchell's place. So far no other word has been received, and Johnson fears that all the whites have been massacred. It is not probable that the Utes went to the scene to avenge the death of the Navajoe Indians; that it is common for one tribe to lay the crime to another. The district commander has ordered Captain Ketcham's company to leave Fort Lewis early to-morrow morning. Troops are also being brought up from Fort Wingate, N. M. It may be several days before anything definite can be learned. Following is the list of whites when Johnson left Mitchell's place: Old man Mitchell and wife, Edgar Mitchell, wife and three children, Henry Mitchell and wife, Joseph Dougherty and wife, Peter Christinson, William Pollard, William Grove and Victor Neff.

To Maintain the Prices of Patent Medicines.

PITTSBURG, April 24.—A movement to maintain prices on proprietary medicines, inaugurated by druggists here recently, promises to spread throughout the country. Thirteen of the largest patent medicine manufacturers of the United States have formed a protective association to prevent cutting of rates, and circulars have been sent to all wholesale and retail dealers to notify them not to sell at less than established prices, under penalty of having their supply cut off. Thirteen prominent firms in the east have been already boycotted, because of violation of the rules of the new organization. The combination controls 30,000 drug stores and between 700 and 800 wholesale establishments.

Supreme Lodge K. of P.

NEW ORLEANS, April 24.—The 1st session of the Knights of Pythias of the world elected the following officers: Supreme chancellor, John Van Valkenburg of Iowa; supreme vice chancellor, R. Ward Douglas of Ohio; supreme keeper R. and S., Judge R. E. Gowen of Missouri; supreme master of arms, G. B. Shaw of Wisconsin; past supreme chancellor, John R. Linton of Johnstown, Pa. The reception of the supreme lodge of the world by the grand lodge of Louisiana took place to-day. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Governor McEnery, members of the order, the mayor, Grand Chancellor Jastremski and Mayor F. Bigney.

Killed by Sheep Dogs.

COCHRAN, Ga., April 24.—[Special.]—An eight year old son of Henry Barlow, a respectable farmer, while playing in a field was attacked by sheep dogs. He was found almost insensible on the ground, his clothing torn into shreds and his body mangled. In a corner of the field stood four ferocious sheep dogs, licking their chops. They had attacked the little fellow and from signs around had dragged him fully fifty yards. They chewed through his stomach and into his entrails. Nearly all the flesh was gnawed from the arms and legs, and, it is supposed, eaten by the dogs. He died just as his father reached him.

The "Tribune" Boycotted.

NEW YORK, April 24.—[Special.]—The Herald says: "The Cooper Union large hall was packed to its utmost last evening with workingmen, under a call of the Typographical Union, to protest against the Tribune's violation of an agreement in discharging union men from the composing room. The resolutions adopted conclude that the most effective method of fighting unscrupulous employers and enemies of labor is by boycotting their productions. They say: 'We pledge ourselves to boycott to the fullest extent Whitelaw Reid of the New York Tribune, and all people, firms or political parties who give him recognition, aid or comfort.'"

English Capital Seeking Investment.

NEW YORK, April 24.—[Special.]—It was announced yesterday that a syndicate of London capitalists had made three efforts to purchase an entire block of property adjoining Trinity church, and bounded by Rector street, Broadway, New Church street and "The Pot" alley. This syndicate, it is said, has a fund of $25,000,000, which it is seeking to spend in New York real estate improvements. The site is for which land is sought is to erect a gigantic building, in which bankers' and brokers' offices may be concentrated.

The Earthquake in England.

NEW YORK, April 24.—[Special.]—The Tribune says: "England has in the past had several earthquakes, but no destructive shocks appear to have occurred during the last 200 or 300 years. The recent shock was really more severe than is believed known in San Francisco. The damage done in it indicate greater duration than the alleged three or three seconds, for in the heaviest shocks which occurred at San Francisco, and at the last one, which lasted ten seconds, the oscillations, though continually increasing, did not bring down any tall chimneys."

Captain Eads.

NEW YORK, April 24.—[Special.]—Captain Eads, who has just returned from England, says his visit was to interest English capitalists in the Tehuantepec railway and was entirely successful. The enterprise is in the hands of a wealthy syndicate, which is furnishing funds for the preliminary work in Mexico. The survey is completed, and the road will be in constructed. "I have no doubt of being constructed, having the railway in operation inside of five years, and shall rely on English capital to complete the work."

Dynamite for Canada.

NEW YORK, April 24.—[Special.]—Some interesting experiments were made yesterday in Greenville, N. J., to test the possibility of firing dynamite from an ordinary cannon, so that dynamite would not explode before leaving the piece. The experiments were declared satisfactory. Prof. T. H. Snyder, the inventor, is quite jubilant at the result. The cannon was a twelve pounder. The charge of dynamite was five pounds, in a cylindrical package, encased in a brass projectile.

Cutting Down the Membership.

NEW YORK, April 24.—[Special.]—The committee appointed at the last meeting of the deacons of the Madison avenue congregational church to "revise the church roll" has completed its work of revisement, and has left only 439 members on the roll, out of about 900 whose names before stood regularly on the books of the church. A prominent Newmanite said, "It is a bold step."

Pronounced a Fraud.

DENVER, April 24.—Large crowds are hourly leaving the Golden Valley district. Many pronounce it a stupendous fraud, for the confidence of the most sanguine has become shaken. The ground is covered with snow. Some days must elapse before a thorough examination can be had and the whole facts known.

Help for the South.

NEWARK, N. J., April 24.—[Special.]—Park theater was well filled to-night, in response to a call to aid ex-confederate soldiers. Governor Parker was present. Speeches were made by General Gordon, Rev. Mr. Hepworth and others. A generous feeling was manifested toward the south, and a handsome sum realized.

ENDICOTT'S REPLY.

What he Says to the Stockholders of the Oregon and Transcontinental.

NEW YORK, April 24.—President Endicott, replying to the request of the stockholders for information concerning the condition of affairs of the Oregon and Transcontinental Company, says, so far as he is aware, no stockholder has ever been refused any information proper to be communicated, though it has not always been accurate, owing to many unsettled accounts. He says the stock owned in the shares of the Northern Pacific and the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company stock, held December last by the Oregon and Transcontinental Company, will amount, during the past year, to more than $22,000,000, or more than $50 par a share upon the Oregon and Transcontinental stock.

In reference to the return of the company's office to New York, Endicott says the assistant treasurer has already transferred the books, and stockholders will be shown a statement of the assets and liabilities of the company.

With regard to maturing the funding scheme, Endicott says it seems hardly practicable to attempt it with success, unless later in the year. The $8,000,000 loan matures December 31 and the remaining indebtedness at a somewhat remote day, so that collateral is not at present available. There is much reason to expect that the summer business upon both the Northern Pacific and the Oregon Railway and Navigation will be such as very much to strengthen the collateral which the company will have to offer as security for a long loan.

The annual meeting of the corporation will occur within sixty days, and as some changes in the management are possible, it seems more appropriate to leave that matter to the new board of directors. The company's officers have endeavored to bring the company from the very critical condition in which it was found in December last into one of undoubted solvency, to adjust and pay the floating indebtedness, which proved to be much larger than had been anticipated, and generally to bring affairs to a sound condition. Much the larger part of this work has been accomplished, and it now remains to be seen how far the developments of northwestern territory will make good the expectations which led to the organization of the company.

IN WALL STREET.

The Bulls Succeed in Partially Checking the Downward Tendency.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Government, weaker. Railways, generally weak in the forenoon, following the weakness throughout Europe, the firmer tone in the afternoon under the general buying, and though twenty seven out of forty stocks traded in during the day closed lower than last night, the declines were small in all cases except Erie Preferred, which showed a net decline of 2 per cent for the day, Oregon Navigation 1, and Oregon Improvement 1¾. On the other hand Union Pacific and a few others show gains of ¼ to ⅜ per cent. Union Pacific sold (seller 60) at a difference of 1⅛@2 per cent below the price in the regular way.

MONEY, BONDS AND STOCKS.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Money easy at 2@2½; closed offered 1½. Prime mercantile paper, 4@5½; sterling exchange, bankers' bills, firm at $4 87½; sterling exchange, demand, $4 89½.

Bonds—3s, 100⅜; 4½s, 112½; 4s, 123⅛; Pacific 6s, 129.

Stocks—American Express 96, Canadian Pacific 46¼, Canada Southern 49½, Central Pacific 56½, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy 121¾, Denver & Rio Grande 14, Erie 18⅜, Hannibal & St. Joe 38½, Kansas and Texas, 16⅛, Lake Shore 96, Louisville & Nashville 46½, Michigan Central 80, Northern Pacific 20¼, Northern Pacific preferred 46¼, Northwestern 131½, New York Central 113½, Oregon Navigation 91½, Oregon and Transcontinental 16¼, Oregon Improvement 22, Pacific Mail 46, Panama 98, Rock Island 115½, St. Paul 83½, Texas Pacific 16, Union Pacific 67½, U. S. Express 60, Fargo 12, Western Union 65½, Lackawanna 1[illegible].

RAILROAD NOTES.

PRESIDENT DILLON MAKES AN EXPLANATION.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Sydney Dillon, president of the Union Pacific railway, said, in explanation of the decreased earnings of the road: "A year ago the earnings of the St. Joseph and Western were included in our reports, but now that road is operated independently. Its earnings were over $100,000 per month, but the sum had to be returned to the company in the end. In addition to this we were building the Oregon Short Line, and for that and other new roads were carrying a good deal of construction material. Our present earnings are reported in comparison with these large earnings, but the comparison is not as unfavorable as it appears to be, because it is largely a matter of bookkeeping. The result at the end of the year will show that the real business of the company has not suffered severely."

ANOTHER ADJOURNMENT.

CHICAGO, April 24.—Representatives of the Burlington and of roads in the western trunk line association held another session to-day and adjourned till to-morrow, when another joint conference will take place. Both efforts on the western trunk line roads to hold a secret session, presumably to determine on a definite line of policy to future negotiations. It is not known that any definite action will be taken before the meeting Saturday. Several general managers have left the city for their homes. It is concluded by those in the interest that there is now a fair prospect of final adjustment by conference, and the present prolonged negotiations are simply leading to that end.

GRANTED AN INJUNCTION.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Judge Barrett, in the supreme court, has granted an injunction in the suit of the Denver and Rio Grande and Western railroad company and the Rio Grande and Western construction company and others, restraining defendants from acting, or attempting to act, under the tenth article of the lease made by the Denver, Rio Grande and Western railroad company to the plaintiff in July, 1882.

EXCURSION RATES TO CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, April 24.—The eight eastern trunk lines announce that they will sell excursion tickets to Chicago during the session of the republican national convention, at one fare for the round trip. Superintendents of western and northwestern roads out of Chicago will sell round trip tickets for one and one-third fare.

DENVER AND RIO GRANDE ELECTION.

NEW YORK, April 24.—At to-day's meeting of the directors of the Denver and Rio Grande railway Frederick Lovejoy was re-elected president, Adolph Engler and D. H. [illegible] vice presidents, and Wm. Wagner secretary. Interest on the first mortgage bonds will, it is officially stated, be paid May 1.

A DENIAL.

BOSTON, April 24.—The Transcript says there is no truth in the report that several millions of the New Chicago, Burlington and Quincy stock is for the purpose of securing connection with the Denver, Rio Grande and Western railroad in Utah.

NORTHERN PACIFIC EARNINGS.

ST. PAUL, April 24.—The earnings of the Northern Pacific the third week in April were $341,[illegible], being an increase of $165,[illegible] over the corresponding week last year.

CUTTING DOWN EXPENSES.

MONTREAL, April 24.—The Canadian Pacific is about to reduce the force in the locomotive departments to 100 men, owing to the depression in business.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

MORE ABOUT THE SWINDLER.

ST. LOUIS, April 24.—A dispatch from Pierce late last night gives a further account of the arrest of T. G. Abbott for the robbery of the Watertown, Massachusetts, bank last fall. It appears that Abbott was cashier of the bank and absconded, taking with him all the money he could lay hands on. He came to Pierce county about two months ago with a man named Clayton, whom he represented as a nephew. He claimed to have come from California. They opened a store with goods said to have been bought in Cincinnati, and put on a good deal of style. One merchant became suspicious of him and in some unexplained way suspected they had been connected with a bank robbery. He then corresponded with banks in different parts of the country and discovered Abbott's connection with the Watertown bank and his robbery of it. He then notified the bank of Abbott's presence in Pierce city. His arrest was ordered and he was captured Monday night by a local officer at his house where he was living in fine style. There is no woman in the case. Clayton, who proves not to be a relative of Abbott, will be held until the officers from Watertown come for him.

A MADMAN'S FEARFUL CRIME.

LOUISVILLE, April 24.—The Courier-Journal's Alden county special tells of the horrible murder of two young children by a crazy father, Wm. Austin. Austin was struck over the head about a year ago with a rock. Leaving the field yesterday, he went home, took the children, almost babes, and threw them in the fire, and stood by and saw them cremated. The mother was a witness to the horrible deed, but was powerless to rescue her darlings, only escaping herself with a sucking babe by snatching it from the cradle and running to the woods.

A HUMAN FIEND ON TRIAL.

CINCINNATI, April 24.—The Commercial-Gazette's Grayson, Ky., special says: Wm. Neal is on trial for murder in the first degree for killing Emma Thomas at Ashland, Ky., December, 1881, and the testimony for the state began. The crime consisted in outraging and murdering the Thomas girl and Fannie Gibbons and in killing a crippled boy. The house in which the deed was done was burned by the murderer.

PARRICIDE.

MONROE, Ga., April 24.—Jesse Gunn killed his father, Wallis Gunn. The father is a widower, and he and his son courted the same young lady. The son married two weeks ago. The father sent him word to be on his guard as he was coming to kill him. Yesterday morning the father entered the son's house who fired on his father just as the latter was taking aim.

SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS.

BAYONNE, N. J., April 24.—City Treasurer Francis Smith is short in his accounts. The amount of his defalcation is $41,000.

ACCIDENTS.

FREIGHT TRAIN WRECKED.

GALVESTON, April 24.—News' Fort Worth special: The west bound freight train on the Texas and Pacific railroad was wrecked last evening at a trestle, three miles west of this place. Three loaded cars were thrown from a bridge and broken to pieces. Seven of eight cars were more or less damaged. The cause of the accident was a broken rail. The east bound passenger train will be delayed about 12 hours. No one was injured.

UTAH.

POLITICAL NEWS.

The Republican Convention at Utica and Its Significance.

COMMENT OF THE METROPOLITAN NEWSPAPERS.

Proceedings of Various Republican Conventions—Delegates to the Chicago Convention Elected—The Platforms—Etc.

New York Republican Convention.

UTICA, April 24.—When the convention reassembled the committee on credentials announced only one contest in Montgomery county, and the committee unanimously agreed to seat one half of each of the contesting delegations.

Boynton, temporary chairman, was made permanent chairman, and then ordered that the roll of delegates be called, and that each delegate rise in his place and name his choice for four delegates at large from this state to the national republican convention to be held at Chicago.

THE PLATFORM.

While the tellers were engaged in making up the result of the roll call the committee on resolutions presented a platform as follows:

The republican party of New York, in state convention assembled, declares its confidence in the success of the republican party of the nation in the coming presidential election, under the standard bearer to be named by the Chicago convention June 3, because of the necessity for the continuance of a republican administration of the affairs of the government, which democratic inability and incapacity would imperil, and because the forces of republicanism throughout the land, embodying the superior intelligence and numbers of the people, are united in support of principles and policies indispensable to the republic's welfare; its great respect for President Arthur, whose administration, begun under circumstances of peculiar sadness, delicacy and embarrassment, has by its eminent prudence and sagacity, commended itself to the esteem of the country, and as such receives the cordial acknowledgements of the republicans of his own state; its satisfaction with the honest, frugal and intelligent governmental expenditures, reduction of the public debt and interest charges, and relieving the people from unnecessary burdens; its approval of that policy of protecting home industry from foreign competition which has, through a century of national well being, encouraged immigration and thrift, fostered enterprise and insured unparalleled progress and prosperity for all avocations; its determination to adopt all further measures required in the service of the government in all its departments, and regulate the methods of appointment therein, so that it shall be brought to the highest possible state of efficiency and integrity; its purpose that equal civil rights shall be maintained, under the guarantees of the constitution, everywhere in the land; and that the elective franchise shall be respected so that every vote shall have a free ballot, which shall be honestly counted; its recognition of the national obligations imposed by the enfranchisement of an uneducated race; its appreciation of the extraordinary burdens thus laid upon certain commonwealths, and its cordial approval of legislation, within just constitutional limits, which shall extend federal aid to the various states in the work of education; its favor of equalization and just distribution of taxation; its wish for the removal of all unjust restrictions upon the American shipping interests, development of maritime industries, and incidental thereto the establishment of our navy upon a footing in keeping with modern necessities and our dignity as a nation; its approval of a plan of military education which shall provide for national defence upon the volunteer system; its adherence to the sound financial policy which dictates the immediate suspension of the coinage of the standard silver dollar, the retirement of the trade dollar, and an equitable adjustment of the currency to the single standard of gold; its protestation against that policy in congress, which, in the weakness and imbecility of the democratic majority in the house of representatives, has disturbed the smooth and satisfactory course of business and material affairs that have been established under republican auspices, and that by ill-advised and insidious assaults upon wisely matured and advantageous legislation has brought the business and industries of the country to the verge of uncertainty and distrust, and thus again demonstrated the unfitness of the democratic party to be trusted with the conduct of public affairs.

When the reference to President Arthur was read, there was loud, long and continued applause, and in response to a call for three cheers, they were given with a will and a tiger.

DELEGATES AT LARGE ELECTED.

At the conclusion of the reading of the platform the tellers announced the result of the ballot for delegates at large as follows: Theodore Roosevelt 472, Andrew D. White 467, John I. Gilbert 452, Edwin Packard 286, Warner Miller 210, [illegible]. The chair declared the gentlemen elected.

A motion was made that the nomination be made unanimous, but there were a few dissenting votes.

[illegible] Roosevelt, Gilbert and Miller [illegible].

The New York Press.

THE "TRIBUNE."

"NEW YORK, April 24.—[Special.]—The Tribune comments this morning on the outcome of the convention. The republican platform adopted at the Utica convention, and it fully and fairly represents the opinions of a large majority of the party in this state. On the whole it is a platform which every honest republican will be glad to stand on in the approaching contest with the democracy. Monday we spoke of the anti-Arthur victory in New York as complete and deprecated any ungenerous or irritating use of the power thus obtained, by any of the various cliques to which conventions are liable. This danger is now happily avoided, for it was voluntarily the act of the Arthur men themselves which eclipses their candidate to give up every delegate at large from his own state. Rather than risk surrender to a stronger or their opponents, they voluntarily struck their colors, and laid down their arms. This failure to put even a single candidate of their own in nomination may be interpreted as a sign of weakness—a fear to show just what vote they really had. This contrasts strongly with the conduct of the Blaine men, who, although without organization, came within six votes of their leading candidate and within eleven, in a sharp test vote, of finally carrying the convention. A fortnight ago nobody claimed that such a showing was possible, and Blaine's strength, displayed under adverse circumstances, is still the occasion of surprise. Yet, remarkable as it is, that on a distinct issue, not only against the administration but against the field, the Maine man should show such force in the president's state, it cannot be considered in any sense a boom for Blaine, for he has been, so many times before, stronger than anybody else, but just short of being stronger than everybody else. The prestige of the victory is worth much to Edmunds."

THE "TIMES."

The Times says: The convention has settled one thing. It has not settled Blaine, much less has it elected Arthur, but it has turned its signal [illegible] intelligence, independence and representative character, [illegible] the great council of the party in the [illegible] of thousands of independent voters in this state [illegible] support [illegible] candidates [illegible] machine effort [illegible]. In its immediate results there is no question will give hope, satisfaction and encouragement to those republicans in the state who have independence enough to spurn the [illegible] of one hand and mental balance sufficiently sure to keep them out of the "magnetized" [illegible] of the other. It was not to be expected that four Edmunds candidates could be secured from the convention in which more than four fifths of the members were devoted to the fortunes of other men. The such a triumph of independence has been won against overwhelming odds [illegible]. But independent republicans of this state will do well, we think, to defer their rejoicings until it has been actually determined what their victory has cost."

THE "WORLD."

The World says: "The convention at Utica yesterday made Edmunds a prominent candidate for president. He may now be regarded as Arthur's heir. The fight henceforth will be between Blaine and Edmunds. The republican convention acted wisely in nominating for court of appeals retiring judges Andrews and Rapallo, the one a republican, the other a democrat. It is commendable to keep the judiciary out of politics, and the compliment is one due to the excellent record of the nominees."

Michigan Republican Convention.

GRAND RAPIDS, April 24.—The republican state convention met this morning and was called to order by Wm. Livingstone, chairman pro tem of the state central committee. Hon. R. G. Horr of Saginaw was called to the chair as temporary chairman.

The afternoon session was called to order by the temporary chairman, and C. F. Gibson, chairman of the committee on credentials, reported 810 delegates present.

Col. H. N. Duffield of Detroit, chairman of the committee on permanent organization, reported the names of Hon. M. C. Burch of Grand Rapids for permanent chairman, and C. T. Bennett of Bay county for permanent secretary.

The report of the committee was unanimously adopted, and organization was completed by the election of the vice presidents and secretaries by districts.

Mr. Burch took the chair, amid much enthusiasm, and briefly addressed the convention.

The report of the committee on resolutions was read by the chairman, Hon. Robert [illegible], and after a discussion the platform presented by the committee was adopted.

THE PLATFORM.

First—The republicans of Michigan, in convention assembled to elect delegates to the national convention, hereby reaffirm the principles of the party as enunciated in its platforms through the history of a quarter of a century.

Second—They look forward with confidence that the wisdom and patriotism of the Chicago convention will [illegible] candidate [illegible] in November [illegible] Michigan [illegible] majority.

District delegates to the Chicago convention were then chosen with presidential preferences as follows: Blaine 10, Edmunds 4, unknown 3. The delegates at large go uninstructed. Their preferences are unknown.

DELEGATES TO CHICAGO.

Following are the delegates to the Chicago convention at large from the districts: 1st, S. M. [illegible] and S. M. Stevens; 2d, [illegible]; 3d, [illegible] W. Webber and Henry F. Thomas; 4th, E. T. Reed and Dr. Joseph Andrews; 8th, W. S. Twick and W. E. Watson.

Adjourned.

Ohio Republican Convention.

CLEVELAND, April 24.—The committee on resolutions met last night and agreed to report a platform favoring the protective tariff, approving President Arthur's administration, recommending amending the constitution for civil rights; in favor of collecting an adequate revenue by duties on imported goods to pay the expenses of government; for restoration of the wool tariff of 1867; favoring protection to all citizens, especially colored people in the south, against the revolver and the shotgun, in the enjoyment of all their rights (if congress has not power enough the constitution to be amended); recommending more stringent laws against Mormonism, and endorsing the platform of the last Ohio republican convention.

BLAINE CAUCUS.

CLEVELAND, April 24.—The Blaine caucus reassembled this morning, before the convention, and voted to support, as a compromise ticket for delegates at large, Judge Foraker, Judge West, Judge Ambler and Marcus A. Hanna. Foraker and Hanna are regarded as for Sherman. The others are strong Blaine men.

CALLED TO ORDER.

The convention was called to order at 9:15 this morning, and the committee on permanent organization reported for permanent president Hon. William McKinley, jr., of Stark county, who was elected with applause.

Mr. McKinley was escorted to the chair by the committee and made a brief and eloquent speech. The names of Blaine, Sherman, Arthur, Grant, Lincoln, Edmunds and Garfield were applauded as they were named by the speaker.

For candidates for secretary of state were proposed C. T. Clarke and J. T. Ogelvie of Franklin county, Henry Lackey of Cincinnati, Oscar Stephens of Preble county, J. S. Robinson of Hardin county, Dwight Powell of Ashtabula county, and H. A. Artiner of Muskingum county. Robinson was nominated on the third ballot.

For judge of the supreme court Hon. William W. Johnson, present chief justice of the supreme court, and John S. Brazee of Lancaster were proposed. Johnson was nominated—529 to Brazee's 156.

C. A. Flickinger was nominated for member of the board of public works.

For delegates at large to the Chicago convention Judge G. B. Foraker was elected by acclamation. A motion to elect Judge W. H. West by acclamation was lost.

The convention elected Hanna by acclamation. This is regarded as another Sherman victory.

A motion to suspend the rules and elect Beatty (another Sherman man) by acclamation, was lost.

The balloting for fourth delegate proceeded, amid considerable excitement, and loud shouting by the Sherman men for Beatty, and by Blaine men for West. General Beatty was elected by acclamation.

Resolutions, a synopsis of which was sent last night, were adopted. Afterwards the adoption was reconsidered, because the first resolution implied no internal revenue platform, and the resolutions were recommitted.

Virginia Republican Convention.

RICHMOND, April 24.—Last night after the recess the committee reported that all the counties of the state but four were represented. Colonel William Lamb was made permanent president.

A motion that the delegates to Chicago be instructed to cast their votes in the national convention for Arthur was received with almost unanimous disapproval.

The resolutions reported by Mahone favor a protective tariff, change the name of the coalition party to the republican party of Virginia, favor free education, ballot and count, endorse Arthur's administration, and declare a preference for his nomination at Chicago.

DELEGATES AT LARGE CHOSEN.

RICHMOND, Va., April 24.—The committee on business reported the following delegates at large: Gen. Wm. Mahone, W. H. Pleasants (colored), S. M. Yost, Frank S. Blair, Jas. D. Brady and A. A. Lowman. Electors at large and district electors were also named. After some delay discussion, the report of the committee was adopted.

Delegates Elected

FOR EDMUNDS.

WORCESTER, Mass., April 24.—The 10th congressional district elected A. W. Rice and Theo. C. Bates delegates to the republican national convention. Both are for Edmunds.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., April 24.—The republicans of the first district elected Jonathan Bourne and Frank R. Stevens delegates to Chicago. Bourne favors Edmunds and Stevens Arthur.

RUTLAND, Vt., April 24.—The republicans in the first Vermont congressional district to-day elected delegates to Chicago. Both are for Edmunds.

MANKATO, Minn., April 24.—The republicans of the second congressional district to-day elected delegates to Chicago. Beatty is for Edmunds personally, but will vote for Blaine. Rogers is for Edmunds first and Arthur second.

MARYLAND DELEGATES.

BALTIMORE, April 24.—The third congressional district republican convention to-day elected delegates uninstructed.

[illegible] the fourth congressional district republican convention owing to contested delegates [illegible]. The so called custom house party [illegible] of Blaine portion of the convention [illegible] delegates to Chicago, with two alternates. The custom house convention also elected delegates to Chicago and two alternates.

FOR BLAINE.

DES MOINES, April 24.—The fourth Iowa district has elected delegates to the national republican convention instructed for Blaine.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 24.—The republicans in the fifth congressional district to-day elected delegates to Chicago. One prefers Edmunds, but will vote for Blaine, in accordance with the wishes of his constituents. The other is for Blaine.

UNINSTRUCTED.

Political Notes.

CONVENTION POSTPONED.

CHICAGO, April 24.—The national committee of the national prohibition home protection party announce that its national convention, which was to have been held at Pittsburg, May 21, has been postponed until July 23. The Illinois state convention of the same party will be held at Bloomington, June 18.

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET ELECTED.

NEW ORLEANS, April 24.—The official returns show the probable election of the democratic state ticket by 20,000 majority. The official returns of the city are not yet completed, but will give a democratic majority of about 6000.

"PUCK" HURTS BLAINE.

NEW YORK, April 24.—[Special.]—The Sun says: Blaine was so greatly hurt by a cartoon in Puck, which represented him as a tattooed man, that he has seriously considered the propriety of bringing action against the paper.

CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATION.

CANADA.

WIGGINS TO THE FRONT.

OTTAWA, April 24.—Professor Wiggins claims that the recent storms and earthquakes in England are the fulfilment of his March predictions. The professor believes the forces which caused the disastrous storm last month will burst on Saturday evening next, and earthquakes will probably occur Sunday and Monday, while there is a probability that the earthquake in England will return with increased violence about May 20.

UNIVERSITY ORDERED CLOSED.

TORONTO, April 24.—There is great excitement among the Catholics in Canada over the rumor that the pope had ordered the closing of the Laval university, its law and medical branches, because of the expenditure of over $1,000,000 of church funds without reaching a self-supporting basis. The archbishop of Quebec has started for Rome to secure the rescindment of the mandate.

GREAT DAMAGE BY FRESHETS.

ST. JOHNS, N. B., April 24.—The damage by freshets to the Inter Colonial railroad, between Sackville and Amherst, is more serious than at first supposed. Passengers and mails leaving Halifax Tuesday only arrived to-day. In Nova Scotia, dams, sawmills and logs were swept away. A Shediac correspondent writes that such a freshet has been unknown in forty years.

WILL SHORTLY RETIRE.

MONTREAL, April 24.—It is stated that J. S. Kennedy and Duncan McIntyre will shortly retire from the directory of the Canadian Pacific railroad. It is said J. J. C. Abbott will succeed McIntyre.

THE FIRE RECORD.

LARGE TANNERY AT CINCINNATI BURNED.

CINCINNATI, April 24.—The American Oak Leather Tannery, occupying a square bounded by Velnet street, McLean avenue and Dalton and Florence streets, burned early this morning, excepting the japanning department, which was saved by the desperate work of the fire department. There were 45,000 hides in the factory. The loss will reach $400,000; insurance, $250,000. Portions of the tannery were burned a year ago. Four hundred people are thrown out of employment.

Later efforts to obtain a full list of the insurance are fruitless. Members of the firm refuse to give details. It is ascertained from other sources that the insurance was mainly placed in local companies, and in companies represented here. The fire originated in the drying room, above the boiler, and was discovered by the watchman, and while the fire was under the boiler, about 2 o'clock this morning. The spread of the flames was rapid, and the spectacle was one of remarkable brilliancy, as the great building seemed to be all aflame at once. There were many narrow escapes from falling walls, but no injuries are reported. The establishment was the largest of the kind in the world. The capital stock is $1,000,000. J. E. Morey is president, S. M. Lemont vice president, and August Fogel secretary and treasurer. There is no question of the ability of the company to repair its losses and proceed with its business.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

News Notes from Victoria.

VICTORIA, April 24.—On the arrival of the Queen of the Pacific at this port yesterday, a leper was detected among the Chinese passengers. He was sent to a leper island, and has been taken care of by the Board of Health. In the city jail there is another leper.

The city council to-night refused to pass the Sunday law.

PACIFIC COAST.

INTERESTING ITEMS FROM SAN FRANCISCO.

Important Developments in the Sharon-Hill Divorce Case—Douglas County Republican Convention—Coast Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—[Special.]—The Queen of the Pacific has again distinguished herself, having again beaten the best record. She left this port at 10 o'clock Sunday morning for Victoria. The steamer Columbia left at the same hour for Portland. The officers and crew of the latter determined to show those on the Queen of the Pacific that they also had a fast ship, and on the up trip a race was had. At 9 o'clock Tuesday night a dispatch was received from Astoria, stating that the Columbia was passing in over the bar, and about the same time a telegram from Victoria stated that the Queen had arrived there at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Victoria is about 215 miles further north than Astoria, so it would seem that the Columbia was far behind when the Queen of the Pacific was off the bar. The distance to Victoria is 850 miles, which the Queen of the Pacific made in 54 hours and 30 minutes, at the fast rate of 15.75-82 miles an hour. This is the best time on record between the two ports on the up trip. On the down trip the Queen of the Pacific also "carries the broom," having made it in 52 hours and 40 minutes.

A Cargo of Coolies.

[Special.]—The steamer Arabic, which arrived here Saturday night, via Honolulu, started from Hong Kong with 900 Chinese with the expectation of landing the greater part of them there. Owing to the new regulations of the Hawaiian government, prohibiting the landing of more than twenty-five Chinese from any one vessel, considerable difficulty was experienced at Honolulu, and only about 300 were landed. The remainder were brought to this port, and about 200 shipped on the Queen of the Pacific to Victoria. The remainder will probably try to land here, if they can work through the meshes of the custom house.

Shipping Intelligence.

Arrived—Str State of California, Debney, 51½ hours from Portland, via Astoria 41 hours, passengers and merchandise, to Goodall, Perkins & Co.; str Mexico, Huntington, 72 hours from Victoria, passengers and merchandise, to Goodall, Perkins & Co. Cleared—Str Eureka, Butler, Port Townsend, to R. D. Chandler. Sailed—Str Oregon, Polemann, Astoria and Portland; ship Dashing Wave, Cannon, Port Townsend.

[Special.]—The State of California got in at 8:30 A. M. She had a rough trip down. The Oregon got off at 10:30. Both vessels were crowded.

The ship Fleetwing, now loading with Oregon flour here for Europe, will soon be ready for sea. Balfour, Guthrie & Co., who are loading her, have chartered the Kelat, which will also take in Oregon flour here.

Personal.

[Special.]—C. P. Church will sail for home by the steamer of May 2.

The "Stratagem" comedy company sailed for the north this morning, and will play at Astoria Saturday, and open for one week on Monday, at Portland. They will go on the northern circuit, remaining in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia six weeks.

Manager Stockwell is negotiating for Kate Castleton and company, to play a brief engagement at New Market.

Dies from His Wounds.

John Wisnizki, who was so severely slashed with a razor in the hands of his uncle, Joseph Wisnizki, died at the receiving hospital to-day. The body is at the morgue. Joseph, at the time, cut his own throat, from the effects of which he died a few days subsequent.

Verdict of Suicide.

The jury yesterday rendered a verdict of suicide in the case of W. H. Lent, who shot himself on Tuesday last.

Swore Out A Complaint.

SACRAMENTO, April 24.—Leverson yesterday afternoon swore to a complaint in the police court charging E. F. Conway with unlawfully and wilfully omitting to perform his duty as a public officer. Conway is minute clerk of the assembly and refused to enter on the minutes a protest offered by Leverson. The warrant was issued for the arrest of Conway.

SACRAMENTO, April 24.—In the assembly this morning Leverson, member of the assembly from San Francisco, speaking to a question of a personal privilege, referred to the treatment he had received at the hands of the house, and tendered his resignation, which caused great sensation and excitement. The matter was taken under advisement.

THE SHARON DIVORCE CASE.

The Defense Produce the Marriage Contract, and Admit the Genuineness of the Signature.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—During the session of the Sharon divorce case this morning General Barnes made the following statement, in order that he might be allowed to introduce evidence of an expert in handwriting: "We don't deny that Mr. Sharon's signature is there, but we do say that the writing of this contract was written after the signature was attached. We wish to prove this to the court. We claim that this contract is a forgery. The signature, 'William Sharon, Nevada,' is written on the first line of the first page. We wish to show also that plaintiff writes a very bold hand, averaging about five words to the line, whereas this letter averages eleven words to the line." At the time of this writing the question as to whether expert testimony shall be taken or not had not been decided.

AN EXPERT ON THE STAND.

Henry C. Hyde, attorney-at-law and an expert in handwriting, was called and testified: "I am a member of the San Francisco Microscopical Society. I have frequently been called upon to make examinations of handwriting as an expert."

General Barnes: "I propose to ask witness concerning this document" (holding up the marriage contract).

Judge Tyler objected until after the execution of the instrument had been denied.

Judge Tyler: "No evidence can be put on this instrument unless the party executing it had denied it under oath. Mr. Sharon must get on the stand and dispute the instrument."

Colonel Flournoy reminded the court that plaintiff had testified she wrote the document. Therefore there was no dispute about it. "The expert cannot be called, except to deny that the plaintiff had written the instrument. He cannot be called at all in relation to the body of the instrument. No man's opinion can be taken concerning the body of an instrument."

THE SIGNATURE GENUINE.

General Barnes said: "Here is an alleged marriage contract, written on half a sheet of note paper. We do not propose to deny that the words 'William Sharon, Nevada, August 25, 1880,' were not written by defendant; but we propose to show that the body of the document was written above and over the signature, and that the document is to all intents and purposes a forgery. That there is a studied attempt at contraction on the document, amounting to 40 per cent. in some cases. We want to show that the signature is written on the first page of the sheet of note, and that the declaration is written on the other side of the sheet. We want to show that there is in some places a systematic and careful overcrowding of words, to get in the necessary declaration. We want to show that the plaintiff ordinarily writes a bold hand, and that so far from writing ten or eleven words to a line, she puts only, customarily, four or five. We propose to show, by the aid of a microscope, something connected with the folds of the paper. We propose to show that the note paper was originally opened, and that it was carefully folded, and that the instrument was written after the folds had been made. We propose to take up the paper carefully; to analyze it; to show that the language of the instrument over and above the signature was written in after the plaintiff had, in some of her forages, obtained possession of it."

THE JUDGE'S RULING.

Judge Tyler then contended that his testimony was not admissible, as his calculations were not made from the original document.

General Barnes replied that he proposed to have witness examine the original and give his testimony thereon.

Judge Tyler said that there were only two persons on earth who knew whether Mr. Sharon signed that instrument. They were the plaintiff and the defendant. The best evidence on that point must be the parties themselves, and secondary evidence could not be permitted until the best evidence had been called. Judge Tyler then contended that the instrument was the best evidence of its genuineness. If it is a forgery great care would have been taken to write all the words in the same style and with equal crowding of words. It is apparent that the man who dictated that contract never intended to keep it, but after getting possession of plaintiff's person intended to cast her off.

Judge Sullivan stated that there were some questions which were patent on their face that the testimony was not competent, but each question would have to be determined as it arrived. He did not think it admissible that witness could offer testimony on the number of words in the line; that the court would have to determine that for himself; but there were some matters upon which the microscope would be of assistance, and upon such he would hear evidence.

STATE DISPATCHES.

Douglas County Republican Convention.

ROSEBURG, Or., April 24.—[Special.]—The Douglas county republican convention was held to-day, and nominated the following ticket: Senators, J. H. Shupe and John Emmitt; representatives, Henry Rogers, G. W. Riddle, O. B. Wilcox and William Manning; clerk, G. McKimball; sheriff, O. A. Taylor; Treasurer, William Parrott; school superintendent, F. FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 25, 1884.

A PLAIN REASON WHY.

In the hope of making an esteemed democratic contemporary at Pendleton understand why republicans who want tariff reduction do not see fit to act with the democratic party, we remark that they are not anxious to be fooled, misled, humbugged or deceived. The democratic party has not reduced the tariff, and is not going to reduce it. It has a great majority in the house of representatives, but it couldn't even call up the tariff bill for debate without the help of republican members. It cannot combine its forces for reduction of the tariff. The protectionists of the party checkmate it at every step, and the party has neither strength to act without them, power to whip them in, nor courage to bounce them out. If it wants aid from low tariff republicans the first necessary step is to cut loose from its own protectionists. But this it will not do. It wants to carry the presidential election, and in the hope of doing this it attempts to cover every phase of the tariff question from ideal free trade to extreme protection. With its majority of nearly one hundred in the house it can't pass through that body a tariff measure which looks even to the moderate reduction proposed in the Morrison bill. For low tariff republicans to unite themselves with a party like that in the hope of securing tariff reform would be equivalent in wisdom to joining a brass band as a means of religious improvement. No great reform is possible through the democratic party, because its one great object is power and spoils. To the desire of success for the sake of "what there is in it," it subordinates every possible question of policy, administration and government, and its greatest organs, as the New York World, entreat it daily not to make any declaration of principles, nor take any position, on the tariff or other questions, lest thereby the party may be divided and lose the offices again. Low tariff republicans would be silly, indeed, to act with such a party in the expectation of securing reduction of the tariff. The Chicago Tribune whose position on the tariff question is similar to that of THE OREGONIAN, puts the case rightly when it says: "The republican party has given evidence on more than one occasion, and as late as last winter, of its responsiveness to public sentiment in the matter of taxation. The democratic party, on the contrary, though lavish of promise when out of power, has shown itself this winter, and on every other available occasion of late years, to be divided and cowardly. The low tariff republicans have no reason to apprehend any embarrassment in supporting their party ticket. They are consistent in the matter of revenue reform: they urged it upon the republican party with some success, but they have urged it upon the democratic party in vain."

NEW INTER-STATE RAILROAD BILL.

The new bill for the national supervision of railroads, recently introduced in the senate by Cullom of Illinois, is pronounced the most comprehensive and satisfactory that has yet been offered. The Illinois State Journal says that Cullom's thorough knowledge of the practical workings of the commission system in that state peculiarly fits him for dealing with this intricate question, and he has availed himself of the experience of Illinois in dealing with it. The bill, as framed, seeks to avoid litigation as much as possible, by vesting large discretionary authority in the national commission proposed to be created, just as the same object is attained in Illinois by making the state railroads responsible to the state commission. It provides substantially as follows: (1) An inter-state commission to consist of five commissioners, at a salary of $7500 each per annum, appointed by the president, confirmed by the senate and removable for incompetence and malfeasance, and to have a tenure of five years. (2) The commission to have supervision over all matters pertaining to transportation by rail or by water, or both. (3) Extortion and unjust discrimination are prohibited and both terms clearly defined. (4) It is made the duty of the commission to inquire into all complaints of extortion and unjust discrimination; to notify the companies complained of, and to require an answer in writing within a reasonable time. In case the company fails to make satisfactory reparation the commission investigates and renders judgment; if the company remains obdurate the proper United States district attorney is authorized to enter suit and, on conviction, a fine of $1000 for each offence may be imposed, in addition to full reparation for all damages and expenses of prosecution. (5) It is made a misdemeanor, punishable with a fine of $1000 for each offence, for any company to fail or refuse to make such annual reports, or answer such questions, and produce such books and papers as the commission may call for. (6) The commission or any authorized member or members of it, are empowered to summon witnesses, administer oaths and institute investigations in any part of the country. (7) The commission are required to make annual reports to congress summarizing its work during the year of which it treats. (8) The act applies to all persons, firms, companies and associations, whether corporate or uncorporate, engaged in freight traffic between different states or states and territories, and the breaking of bulk or transfer will not be considered as interrupting the continuity of the consignment.

Mr. Tilden should pray to be delivered from his friends. Some of them seem disposed to tell the truth about his physical condition, and their statement of the truth must be very distasteful to those who for various reasons, wish to secure his nomination for the presidency. One of the most influential of those reasons among the well informed, no doubt, is the belief that Mr. Tilden would, if elected, be merely a figure-head president, even if he survived the term. A gentleman who recently visited him says:

> If I had met Tilden on the avenue and not known who he was, I should have simply taken him by the arm called a carriage and taken him to city headquarters as a wandering old man who could not be depended on to give his name or residence. The idea of choosing this old wreck as a candidate for the great democratic party disgusted me with myself and all the rest of the pilgrims.

To another visitor the old gentleman spoke in a hoarse whisper and short sentences as follows:

> I'm feeling much better lately; improving fast, the doctor says the heart is all right; lungs sound; mental faculties (tapping his head) active, local organs a little impaired, but temporarily overworked; reformed New York; nation ought to be reformed same way. Doctor says I need political excitement. Body sound, vocal organs little affected, but mental faculties (tapping his head again) very active.

Senator Van Wyck of Nebraska has written another letter repeating his statement that he cannot under any circumstances consent to be a candidate for delegate to the republican national convention, and adding: "I have always believed that the delegation should be made up of new men fresh from the people, who can better know their preferences, as the question is what the republicans in the state desire, not what the prejudices or advantages of official position may suggest. As to your other suggestion, just at this juncture of affairs the less scheming in state and national conventions the better. Any attempt to override the wishes of the people may repeat the lessons of the last few years that the ballot-box has healthy revenges where the mass of the party has been overreached or betrayed."

Notwithstanding the great number of persons going to Europe it is now said that there are too many Atlantic steamships. The famous Cunard line, most popular of all, this year has been unable to pay a dividend. This is the first failure to declare a dividend since the line was first instituted. Competition has reduced the prices of passage and freights so that they are below the profit point.

NEW YORK AND THE CANDIDATES

We print a letter from a citizen of New York, now here, who takes a very enthusiastic view of republican prospects in the Empire state. It may be proper to say that the writer, Mr. A. N. Cole, was the founder of the pioneer journal of the republican party, the Genesee Valley Free Press; that he called the first convention of the party, and ran up at masthead the first ticket headed "Republican Nominations." He has taken always an active interest in the political affairs of his state, and has undoubted opportunities of sounding public sentiment in it, particularly in the rural counties, where the chief strength of the republican party lies. It is his belief that Blaine would carry the state by a great majority.

Mr. Cole certainly does not exaggerate Blaine's strength among the republicans of the interior counties of New York. Recent political movements show this clearly enough. We think, however, there remains a question as to his strength in the large cities, and particularly in the metropolis. The state was carried for Garfield by the vast increase in the republican vote over the democratic in New York City and Brooklyn. This increase came chiefly from the so-called independent voters and business classes, who are little moved with political enthusiasm. Is it certain that they would vote for Blaine as they did for Garfield? The utterances of such journals as Harper's Weekly, and the Times and Evening Post seem to raise a doubt about it.

It is believed by Mr. Cole that any one of the candidates hitherto named, General Logan possibly excepted, would carry New York. It is a fact that Logan is not strong in the eastern and middle states; and the principal reason of it is his course on financial questions. Lately matters have taken a turn which appear to strengthen Blaine on this point. The Pennsylvania republican convention, controlled by Blaine's supporters, passed a strong resolution demanding the suspension of the coinage of the silver dollar; while the Illinois convention, which presented Logan for the presidency, did not have the moral courage to speak out on the question. Logan has and will continue to have small following in the eastern and middle states until he expresses himself decidedly on the question of the silver coinage. He voted for the 85-cent dollar, and now would have been his opportunity to show to the business men of the country that he believes the time has come for a suspension of that coinage. But his partisans trimmed to the local breeze, and therefore his support in the national convention will be more local than national. Mr. Blaine has heretofore not been strong in New York city, but the silver declaration in the Pennsylvania platform will aid him with the business elements of that great metropolis. The vast commercial interests of New York are so thoroughly opposed to the possibilities of a single silver standard in the United States, that they will naturally favor any candidate who holds out to them the relief from such a possibility. Edmunds is peculiarly right on the currency question, and that gives him great strength in New York. Arthur is also right, and that gives him his strength there. The republican state convention of New York has also adopted a resolution demanding that the coinage of the silver dollar shall cease. An Arthur-Edmunds combination appears to have named the delegates at large for that state; yet Blaine had great strength in the convention, and will have perhaps not less than half the district delegates.

The position of New York in relation to the presidential contest lends to the action of that state the highest interest and importance. While conceding to our correspondent a superior knowledge of the politics of the state, we are yet unable to share his confidence that it will be surely republican. The history of political contests in New York would seem to show plainly the state cannot be counted with certainty for either party. It contains a very heavy body of non-partisan voters, whose ballots are thrown upon their own judgment as to men and measures. Sometimes these voters incline to one party and sometimes to the other, and the result, particularly in presidential contests, is determined accordingly.

PROTECTION FOR SHEEP.

The sheep farmers of this state apparently need protection from coyotes more than they need an increase of the tariff tax on wool. In some portions of the state the depredations of these animals are so great as to render it impossible to keep sheep. They have already practically destroyed the flocks in Josephine county, and in the eastern portion of Douglas county. We have heard of one flock being reduced from 2300 to 500 within a short time. In these places the sheep ranges are partly covered with brush, which furnishes a cover for these animals as well as for the sheep, making it difficult for shepherds to guard the flocks. At first, before sheep were abundant, it was possible to poison many wolves, but now they refuse to touch the poisoned meat. In Jackson county, we understand, a bounty is given for killing coyotes and cougars, which has prevented their multiplying, as in other adjoining counties, and sheep are still successfully kept there. But in Josephine county the wolves are so abundant that the people do not think they could afford to pay the bounties necessary for exterminating them. The sheep business is worth too much to the state to be ruined by wolves, and the state might well afford to relieve the counties infested by these vermin from the expense of paying premiums for their extermination. In many states this burden is borne by the people at large, and it would be well for the legislature of Oregon to pass a law to provide for the payment of a suitable bounty for killing wolves, cougars and other vermin. The farmers are entitled to protection to that extent from the state. All portions of the state are interested in the development and continuance of all kinds of industries. The city of Portland, for example, has derived a tribute from the entire state, and will continue to do so, and it is only fair that she should share in the expense of making her continued prosperity possible.

The importation of Jersey cattle into the United States last year amounted to 174 head, valued at the place of export at £10,330, averaging nearly £47 10s per head. Among the number was a prize cow of the invoice value of £1000. The United States consular agent makes some valuable suggestions to guard against frauds in importation, and secure pure breeds with good milking qualities. He stated that the breeders of the Channel islands are desirous of preventing such frauds and anxious to take every precaution to insure genuineness of the breed of the cattle sent to this country. It is also suggested that purchasers of cattle should have them imported direct from the Channel islands, because there is a breed of cattle in England known as Jerseys which cannot be pure, because it is well known that Jersey cattle imported into England degenerate in two or three years, and do not retain their milking qualities.

Jim made a dash for a tunnel, and as he went in the slide was so close upon him that it raked each joint in his backbone, and took off the tail of his coat. HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE, Invaluable as a Tonic.

DR. J. L. PRATT, Greenfield, Ill., says: It is all that it claims to be—invaluable as a tonic in any case where an acid tonic is indicated.

A NEW YORKER'S VIEWS.

PORTLAND, April 23.

To the EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

This morning finds me in your city, and a copy of your paper having fallen into my hands, and my eye having lighted upon the following, I cannot hold back from a comment. In your paper you remark:

> It is probable that a majority of the republicans of Oregon prefer Mr. Blaine for presidential candidate over any other. No doubt he would carry the state. But Oregon will unquestionably cast her vote for any candidate whom the republican national convention may name. But, as the Minneapolis Tribune says, "New York, Ohio and Indiana must be considered. If Blaine can carry those commonwealths he can carry the rest of them with like a whirlwind; but at the present date no one is authorized to say just how strong Mr. Blaine is in those states which will turn the scale."

I am just in from the state of New York, know something of the political prospects there, and, having been for nearly forty years a journalist, and during the last ten years chairman of the executive committee of the republican reform league, an organization having an hundred members of a state committee, one in each county, with forty at large, a correspondent in every town of the state, with one in nearly every ward of cities and more important towns, I feel prepared to say that the name of no candidate, outside of that of Logan has been as yet seriously mentioned, who would not carry New York by a very large majority. Republicans and democrats alike in our state are protectionists, as a rule, and the democratic party has never been so weak and the republican so strong as at present.

President Arthur seems weak in the rural districts, judging from results in the primaries, and yet should he be nominated would get a full vote in the country, and a stronger one in New York and Brooklyn than perhaps any one else, John Sherman possibly excepted.

Mr. Edmunds would also prove a strong candidate in our state, and carry it by a large majority; but his name would not arouse the enthusiasm of the masses.

Mr. Blaine, I am confident, would be able to command more votes than any man whose name has been suggested. He would sweep such counties as St. Lawrence, Jefferson, Cayuga, Onondaga, Allegany, Chautauqua, Cattaraugus, Steuben and other strongholds of republicanism nearly clean, scores of democrats having already declared for him in several of the towns of our rural districts. In my own town, Wellsville, Allegany county, I am convinced he would draw fully one hundred democratic votes from their usual poll of about six hundred.

General Joe Hawley would get almost as many votes in New York as Mr. Blaine. General William Tecumseh Sherman, were he a candidate, and made our standard bearer, would, in my opinion, sweep the state by one hundred thousand majority. I am quite sure John Sherman would carry our state by from thirty to forty thousand. President Arthur would, I am convinced, prove equally strong. Logan, though strong with the soldier element, would be found otherwise a weak candidate at the east.

What I have said of New York will equally apply to Pennsylvania and Ohio. Of Indiana I know little.

In conclusion, the delegates elected to Chicago from New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio will be found faithfully and intelligently representing constituencies behind them, and all doubt or cavil as regards the way these states will go in November may be dismissed at once. If the west will do as well as the east, the entire north will be carried by any candidate who may be selected.

A. N. COLE.

THE SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT.

PORTLAND, April 24, 1884.

To the EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The rare "common sense" which causes a correspondent to predict that woman suffrage will get but a one-fifth vote in the state is amusing. There have been false prophets before, and it is noteworthy that those whose predictions are the most absurd have felt themselves monopolists of "common sense." Your correspondent will probably find that his prediction is fully as wild as his statement that "not a dozen members of the legislature who voted to submit it were for the measure or will support it at the polls." That is one of the extravagant assertions common to most opponents of all measures of justice. Right being against them, they must resort to misrepresentation. Of the twenty-one senators who voted in 1880 to submit the amendment, I know that seventeen are for the measure and will vote for it. Of the thirty-two representatives who voted for submission, I know that twenty will support it at the polls. Of the twenty-one senators who ratified the amendment in 1882, I know that fifteen are for the measure. Of the forty-seven representatives who did likewise, I know that thirty-one are for the measure. I am unacquainted with the rest. So far as I know not a man who voted for submission will vote against the amendment, but it is possible that half a dozen of the 120 may do so. That is a queer variety of "common sense" which supposes nine-tenths of the affirmative legislators to have lacked the backbone to vote their convictions.

CLACKAMAS.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

The wife of Mr. Sass, a German carpenter living at Canemah, left home early Thursday morning of last week, while her husband was yet in bed. She was given up as lost or drowned. However, on Sunday morning a man brought her in from the neighborhood of Canby, where she had been captured in the woods. Mrs. Sass is subject to fits of insanity.

Washington Territory.

The republicans of Yakima county send R. B. Kinne and J. A. Navarre to the Dayton convention.

Constable Gregory, acting deputy sheriff, went to Walla Walla Wednesday to sell the furniture and fixtures of the railroad hotel, for the benefit of creditors. The goods, which, according to the bills, cost $5000, were knocked down to Messrs. Libby & Webber, the new lessees, for $1950.

A correspondent of the Goldendale Gazette, writing from the Swale, says: The farmers are about through seeding and have all improved well the beautiful spring by sowing a large amount of grain. The ground is moist, and grain and vegetation of all kinds are growing nicely.

Says a Walla Walla exchange: The rains are helping out the grain wonderfully. A leading farmer, who has 300 or 400 acres in wheat, seven miles west of the city, near Dry Creek, says that he would not take forty bushels to the acre for his crop. North and east of town farmers feel greatly encouraged over the outlook.

Last Monday afternoon as a boy known in Field's ranch as "Wm. Michim's bound boy, Earl Allgood," was fooling with a shotgun, the weapon was accidentally discharged and the boy badly wounded. The muzzle of the gun appears to have been toward the boy's face, as the load carried away part of his lower jaw and cheek, inflicting an unsightly, painful, but not fatal wound. A physician was summoned, and the boy's wounds were dressed and made as comfortable as possible.

Mention was made some days ago in a Seattle exchange that a disease had broken out among a band of horses on Cedar river belonging to the Oregon Transcontinental Company, and that Dr. Hope, the well known veterinary surgeon, had been sent for to take charge of these animals. It is now learned that several horses died, and on the arrival of the doctor he shot six more, since which time the disease has been checked, and the animals are now getting along first rate. It is thought no further loss from that cause will be sustained.

Idaho.

Some of the cattle thieves who broke jail at Baker City have been seen around Jordan valley, Baker county. So says the Idaho Avalanche.

On Monday last the court house and jail, together with two prisoners, were burned at Silver City, Idaho. The records of the county were also burned. One of the prisoners burned to death was Fred. Woodworth, held on a charge of murder; the other was a Chinaman, offense not stated.

The republicans of Idaho met in a territorial convention at Boise City last week and elected D. P. B. Pride and W. N. Shilling delegates to the Chicago convention, and George A. Black and H. Squires alternates. A ringing platform was adopted, [illegible] Arthur. The delegates were not instructed.

INCARCERATED FOR PASSING COUNTERFEIT MONEY.—Deputy U. S. Marshal Burkhart of Albany arrived here yesterday, having in charge John Davenport, Wm. Reed and A. H. Hart, arrested for passing counterfeit coin at Albany. They had an examination before U. S. Commissioner Paul R. Deady and were committed to jail. Reed and Hart will probably be discharged, as Davenport states that he gave them one of the bogus dollars each. This Davenport was up before the U. S. court some months since and was convicted of selling liquor to Indians. From his statement it appears that he shortly after went to Vancouver and enlisted in the army. He says he overheard two persons talking about where some coin was hid, and that he searched the place designated, a cabin near the Vancouver ferry, on the Oregon side, and found ninety bogus dollars wrapped up in paper. He took them and went south. On his way he fell in with Reed and Hart, who were without money, and, having come cheaply by his bogus coin, he gave each of them a dollar. Hart says he came lately from Oakland, Douglas county, and was looking for work. Reed came from Philadelphia not long since and says he has been working for a farmer for his board. Both of them are dull appearing fellows, whose statements appear to be honest. The bogus dollars are a poor imitation of the genuine article, and would not deceive a blind Chinaman. They are apparently of block tin and were probably cast in a plaster of Paris mold. The method used by Davenport in working off this counterfeit coin was to engage in gambling and to stake the bad money and take up the good money laid down by others.

ARRESTED FOR DECORATING A GRAVE.—In Justice Davis' court yesterday morning an examination in the case of the state vs. M. Barrel was held. Barrel is a boy about 18 years of age and was arrested for trespassing upon the lands of the Lone Fir cemetery. From the evidence adduced upon his examination, it appears that Barrel for the last four years has been employed in attending to graves in the cemetery and decorating them for the owners. The board of directors of the cemetery some time since adopted a resolution that no one except the sexton should have the right to care for graves within their grounds. Mr. G. W. Parker owns a lot in the cemetery and employed Barrel to decorate it and plant shrubbery upon it. He did so, and for doing this an information was lodged against him by the officers of the cemetery, and after an examination of the charge he was held to answer before the grand jury in the sum of $200. It appears somewhat strange that the owner of a lot in Lone Fir should not be allowed to employ whomsoever he chooses to care for it.

NOT MUCH OF A ROW.—An item published in the Vancouver Independent to the effect that there is trouble between Captain Foster and the Multnomah railway company, is without foundation. The company desiring to renew its license in Washington territory, caused the proper notice to be posted up. Under the advice of Mr. N. H. Bloomfield, the company's attorney at Vancouver, notices were also given by Captain Foster. This was done to save any question that might arise as to the company's right to apply for a license out of the state, and is entirely in the company's interest. Captain Foster is one of the largest stockholders in the company, its vice president and principal business man.

TEDIOUS JOB.—To get a safe into the second story of any building is not an easy task. When it happens that the safe weighs 7000 or 8000 pounds, the work is neither easy nor fast. Such was the case yesterday when Allen tried to get a new four-ton safe into the city auditor's office. It was hauled into a side window upon an incline which began on the further side of the Third street double car track, and traffic was interrupted for some time. A heavy, steady rain did not tend to expedite matters, and it did not dampen the ardor, though it dampened the feet of a large crowd who watched the proceedings for hours.

PORTLAND NATIONAL BANK.—The organization of this bank having been completed and the stock all subscribed, the treasury department authorized the election of officers. Yesterday a meeting of directors was held for that purpose, when the following gentlemen were duly elected: William Reid, president; General Rufus Ingalls, U. S. army, vice president, and Fred. Ward, late of the First National bank, Montana, cashier. The bank will open for business, corner First and Pine streets, whenever its currency notes are received from Washington.

STREET CARS AFTER THEATER.—The street cars in waiting at the theater and on Washington and Third streets at the conclusion of the opera last evening was an innovation, much appreciated by theater goers. Three cars packed full rolled off up First street and as many more up Washington, while the Third street road also had a number of cars out. The public probably appreciated this convenience more than the car drivers and horses. Parties who went to refreshments after the performance were obliged to take hacks or walk as usual.

ASSIGNMENT.—Julius Eisch, pawnbroker, No. 113 First street, made an assignment yesterday to Max Bolinck for the benefit of his creditors. He estimates his assets at $1500. His liabilities are about $[illegible], as follows: Moreno & Lippman, $1100; Naat & Gronzula, $841 03; Mellis Bros. & Co., $392; H. Wolf, $[illegible]; Nordman Bros., $174, and $100 to sundry other creditors.

FALSE REPORT.—The report that the Northwest Trading company had failed, telegraphed from Nanaimo and published yesterday, is erroneous and absurd. The headquarters of the company are in this city, among its stockholders are some of our most reliable men, and it is doing business as usual.

BRIEF MENTION.

James Sykes, an Indian of Pendleton, was brought down yesterday charged with selling liquor to Indians.

Thomas Sheridan, for killing William Rose, was sentenced yesterday to twelve years' imprisonment in the penitentiary.

The last number of Curtis & Son's Gazette [illegible] contains a good article from Mr. E. [illegible] Byerly of this city.

Northern Pacific earnings for the second week in April were $[illegible] against $155,102 for the corresponding week last year.

The republican convention for Columbia county was held yesterday. When the mail boat passed up R. D. Cole had been nominated for representative.

The Blue Ribbon Band Fire Company No. 3, of Vancouver, have been very successfully photographed by Partridge, leading photographer of that place.

The case brought in Justice White's court against Louis Landsberger was dismissed, the testimony showing that there were no grounds for the charge made.

Chief of Police Parish filed his official bond yesterday afternoon, his bondsmen being Hon. Sol Hirsch and Hon. D. P. Thompson. He then took the oath of office and received his certificate.

The body of J. H. Howlett, ship carpenter, who was drowned at Astoria Tuesday night, was brought to this city yesterday and placed in charge of Coroner Cooke. It was embalmed last evening and will be forwarded to Coos bay for interment.

Elder J. W. Webb, who has returned from California as one of the grand lecturers, I. O. G. T., is now at Roseburg attending District Lodge. He has lectured through Jackson and Josephine counties, obtaining good lists of charter members at Wagner Creek and Phoenix, and instituting a good lodge of thirty members at Williams Creek.

PERSONAL.

Mr. R. W. Mitchell, chief clerk in the Northern Pacific land department, has gone to Chicago and will be absent two weeks.

Mr. F. W. Sell, formerly of this city, now auditor of the Pacific Coast railway, was married yesterday at Dubuque, Iowa, to Miss Mabel Graves. They will leave this week for San Luis Obispo, which will be their future residence.

THE EAST SIDE.

DEMOCRATIC MASS MEETING.

A preliminary meeting of democrats to organize for the coming campaign was held at Hall & Stott's hall last evening, about sixty being present.

A temporary organization was effected by the election of H. C. Myers president and F. A. E. Starr secretary.

A committee on permanent organization was appointed, whose report was adopted, and in accordance with which the following permanent officers were [illegible]: President, J. L. Sperry; first vice president, J. A. Newell; second vice president, William M. Lock; third vice president, H. C. Myers; secretary, F. A. E. Starr; corresponding secretary, W. B. Welch; treasurer, George L. Peaslee; sergeant-at-arms, H. H. Kesseling; executive committee, George M. Stroud, John Dedrest, Gus. Strube, R. M. Rafferty and T. R. Turnbull.

The following were appointed as a committee on constitution and by-laws, to report at next meeting: William M. Lock, Joseph Riddel, A. L. Kirk, Dr. C. B. Smith and Kirk Sheldon.

Enthusiastic speeches were made by J. M. Partlow, Wm. M. Lock and Mr. Taylor, recently from California, and three rousing cheers were given each for Judge Myers, nominee for congressman, and ex-Governor Thayer, nominee for Judge of the Supreme court.

The meeting adjourned subject to the call of the executive committee.

BATTALION INSPECTION.

The East Portland City Guard, Company F, First regiment, Second brigade, O. N. G., were inspected at their armory last evening by Lieutenant Colonel J. K. [illegible] of the First battalion. Of the forty-five members comprising the company twenty-four were present and were put through the various evolutions, behaving admirably for a company comparatively so new. The colonel complimented them and encouraged them to continue in the good work. He also examined the arms and equipments and found everything in a satisfactory condition. The company recently received an additional ten stands of arms, and will shortly receive ten more, which will complete the full complement of fifty.

NOTES.

Two Chinamen were arrested and fined $5 each yesterday for peddling without a license.

The East Portland directory is in the hands of the binders, and will be issued as soon as the binding can be completed.

Mrs. M. C. Leavitt lectured at the M. E. church last evening in the interest of temperance to a good audience. She will speak again to-night at the same place.

The democrats did not meet in the council chamber last evening as announced, out of respect to the chamber, which had only just been renovated by repainting, re-varnishing, recarpeting, etc.

The leap year party given at Shute's hall, Stephens' addition, Wednesday evening, was an unqualified success in every respect, being well attended and the ladies leaving nothing undone for the entertainment and pleasure of their escorts.

BILLIARD PARLORS REOPENED.

E. W. [illegible] has obtained entire control of the Brunswick billiard parlors at the corner of First and Alder streets, lately occupied by Shoaf & Graham. They will be thoroughly renovated and placed in first class order, and are to be reopened Saturday evening. E. [illegible] will be retained in charge, and no effort will be spared by the new management to make the parlors as attractive and well patronized a place of resort as in the past.

Excursion.

Mr. R. Sattler, formerly of the Pioneer Bakery, will give an all day excursion to Fisher's Landing, Sunday, April 27. Those who wish a day's enjoyment should not fail to attend. Music will be furnished under the leadership of Prof. [illegible] Bray. No intoxicating [illegible] allowed on the boat. Tickets of the grove [illegible] for sale at [illegible] W. [illegible]'s music store. The steamer Traveler will leave foot of Morrison street at 9 o'clock.

Lent's Drug Store,

Third and Jefferson. Prescriptions compounded day or night. Toilet articles and fancy goods.

"PATIENCE" AT THE NEW MARKET.

When those missionaries, Gilbert and Sullivan—or we will say Sullivan and Gilbert, rang down the curtain upon the vicious and undraped English and American burlesque, it was only to set the stage for opera as sparkling and bright as running water, and at once as pure and sweet, and in this they did a service to mankind financially, and morally, making it possible for gentlemen and ladies and children to attend upon the performance of "burlesque opera" and enjoy the best of light musical composition and the keenest of wit and rich satire, unmarred by coarseness or the unveiling of female charms.

Sir Arthur Sullivan is quite as keen a satirist musically, as is Gilbert in his lines, and the latter's points of wit are brought into view many times by means of the background given them by Sullivan's queer and original harmonies. His verses of ridiculous import are clothed with music in which the musician detects the greatest satire. A commonplace expression is given the form of a recitative after the school of Handel or Haydn, or a foolish verse full of lovesick nonsense, is written into an [illegible], the chords of which rival the harmonies of Mendelssohn's Elijah, or Gounod's Redemption. The French press has said of Sullivan that he is the Massenet of his country, but when the French press accepts his Te Deum as a grand triumphal march, and his [illegible] as a new arrangement of the Domine Salvum Fac, we fear the comparison to Massenet smacks of [illegible]. Sullivan, in either case, can stand it, his record at home being above reproach, and since, in this country as at home, he and his co-worker have satisfied the public desire for lyric burlesque untainted by the immoralities, the strained wit and insufferable puns which characterized the [illegible] dynasties; they should feel happy. Sullivan is a complete master of his art, and the music he has helped Gilbert out with is as strictly legitimate in form and construction as is any he has written in higher works. In "Patience," as in other late works, Gilbert has not been true to the standard he flung out from the "Pinafore" masthead, a standard which waved before the [illegible] mind and it was read and understood. Those who could at once grasp the ridiculous sentences Sir Joseph Porter presented on board the Pinafore are not quite able to detect the hits at and satires upon the aristocracy or early English esthetics.

This class filled theaters throughout the length and breadth of the land to see "Pinafore." Tots acted Pinafore in every town where there was a parlor large enough to hold a dozen of chorus and principals, but this class have failed to catch this talented Englishman's hyperbole and excess in generosity with adjectives in his long speeches. Yet "Patience" is funny, at times, because Bunthorne, Grosvenor and Patience make it so. It has fewer good musical numbers than any of the other of these operas and is less attractive than the "Pirates" or "Iolanthe." In fine it is an opera that does n't "go" from the fact that it is stupid in plot. Bunthorne and Grosvenor are constantly re-appearing, followed by a host of girls rehearsing the same explanations or re-asserting their continued affection. The music repeats itself, like the words, until the thing gets to be more or less of a bore. The military, so necessary to lighten up the scene, have but little to do, and the whole of the opera has a tediousness about it which gives the auditor an idea that it was rather begun at the author's leisure and completed in haste. We are inclined to hold Sullivan responsible for the continued success of these dual effusions, and think Gilbert must pull himself together again or he will be accused of getting (to use his own words) all "hollow, hollow, hollow."

The New Market was filled last night with an audience in the very best of humor and doubly fortified to relish the opera, first, by being acquainted with the music; secondly, through interest centered in the participants. Audiences should be very charitable towards amateurs, and, as a rule, are so. The bulk of their compassion should be for the leader, however, upon whose shoulders falls the responsibility and the success of the performance. If they could once follow a leader through his [illegible] and his outcomings during the two months preceding a performance similar to that of last night, they would doubtless be willing to take tickets for all their friends, if he, the leader, is to be the beneficiary. But no one being permitted to thus shadow him, he must keep it to himself and trust to the imagination of the audience as to the labor he has expended, after they shall have heard the performance.

The cast was as follows:

Patience	Miss H. Mancier
The Lady Angela	Miss Ella Dickenson
The Lady Saphir	Miss Annie Fife
The Lady Ella	Miss Emma Dickenson
The Lady Jane	Mrs. A. L. Johnson
Bunthorn	Mr. T. C. Howell
Grosvenor	Mr. Edwin Miller
Colonel Calverly	Mr. W. T. Brunker
Major Murgatroyd	Mr. W. A. Lee
Lieut., the duke	Mr. O. W. Jackson
Mr. Bunthorne's solicitor	Mr. Ralph Hoyt

The orchestra, augmented with a piano, numbered some ten pieces, and were under the direction of Mr. R. W. Jackson. Amateur performances, when announced for the benefit of any public charity, are spared criticism, as the performers do not profess they are free of the critics. This amateur company made the most of the opera possible with the force at hand. Miss Mancier made a sprightly Patience and sang her numbers with great appreciation of their value. Her song in the second act, "Love is a plaintive song," was well given and called forth a merited encore, at the close of which several floral offerings were passed up to her from the orchestra.

The Ladies Angela, Saphir and Ella, Misses Ella Dickinson, Annie Fife and Emma Dickinson, were really as rapturous maidens as one would desire for a trio of admirers, and Lady Jane, Mrs. A. L. Johnson, was the fourth and most rapturous of them all. Her persistent following of Bunthorne was as vigorous as Gilbert intended it should be.

Mr. T. C. Howell as Bunthorne was exceedingly good, and while not possessing much voice, did what he had to do rather pleasingly. He is less amateurish than the others. Grosvenor, Mr. Edwin Miller, has a pleasing baritone voice, and sang [illegible] song very well. The officers of the dragoon guards, Messrs. W. T. Bunker, W. A. Lee and O. W. Jackson, were well selected for their voices.

Mr. Jackson in "Your Maiden Hearts," in the first act sang that number with very pleasing effect, earning an encore. The "hitches" which attend the first performance of an amateur company were noticeable last night, but will doubtless be remedied. A [illegible] prearrangement between the director and chorus as to just where a repetition shall begin will save the necessary blunders. The finale of the opera, the sextette at the close of the first act was marred for want of proper rehearsals, the voices not being balanced and the pronunciation imperfect.

Too much time can not be spent in rehearsing an unaccompanied part song, and as Sullivan makes madrigals a figure often in his unaccompanied vocal gems, the singer may as well say at once "this is difficult and must have more care paid it than even a solo."

Singers should lose individuality in concerted music. In the sextette mentioned each artist was apparently essaying a solo. We look for an improvement in this.

Mr. Jackson deserves credit for bringing about a performance in such an agreeable manner. The opera will be repeated to-night, to-morrow night and to-morrow afternoon.

CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE.

FOREST GROVE, April 24, 1884.

The spring meeting of this body met with the church at Forest Grove Tuesday evening last. The conference was opened with devotional exercises, which were followed by an address from Rev. E. H. Edwards, a missionary who has recently returned to this country from Bombay. The morning session yesterday was opened with prayer as usual, following which the conference formally proceeded to business by electing Rev. Geo. W. Rockwood of Oregon City church, moderator, and Rev. E. R. Loomis of the Plymouth church, Portland, scribe. About forty representatives including ministers and delegates, were present from the Astoria, Albany, Salem, Corvallis, Washougal, Beaverton, East Portland and Portland churches, in addition to the minister and delegates from the Forest Grove church.

The time of the conference during the forenoon was taken up in discussing "How to make the religious work of the winter permanent," introduced by Rev. Samuel Wood of Astoria, and "How to awaken interest in the study of the bible," introduced by Rev. Geo. A. Rockwood of Oregon City. Many valuable hints were thrown out by different speakers, and the line of thought pursued was of an intensely practical nature.

In the afternoon the first subject to be discussed was "The enforcement of law," introduced by President J. F. Ellis. His remarks were timely and well chosen, and full of the evidence of careful thought regarding the important question. Reference was made to the recent disgraceful affair at Cincinnati, and the policy of giving the criminal defendant twenty-two peremptory challenges in the selection of jurors to two on the part of the state was severely condemned. He gave a brief account of the condition of society when the oath of the jury was originated, and showed how circumstances have changed since without a corresponding change in the jury system, and dwelt especially upon the want of justice as evidenced in the condition of [illegible], and as a natural result leveling [illegible] of society, the legitimate outgrowth of which was the horrible scenes enacted in Ohio but a few days ago.

Dr. Atkinson followed with an able presentation of "Questions of the Day in our State." These, he said, were many, but to him two were of vital importance, and these were: first, the old, but ever new, theme of intemperance, and that was more than ever awakening attention from Maine to Alaska, and from the Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico—an all-important and ever widening topic which engages the best thought and is deemed worthy of the most serious consideration of the best minds of our land. And second, "the family," as the exponent of all that is good and true, and the very foundation even, of our best civilization—the bulwark of our country in the past, and its hope in the future.

The discussion of these [illegible] and was highly enjoyed by all present, as all remarks upon them were thoughtful and clearly defined.

The closing session was held in the evening. After devotional exercises, L. W. Allen of the First Congregational church, Portland, presented an able paper upon "What kind of a preacher does a congregation need?" He must be like Apollos, "mighty in the scriptures," sound in the faith, and possess a devoted heart, and thoroughly consecrated to the master's service; to be willing to count himself as nothing that the Lord's work might be pushed forward; to possess that faith which takes a hold on "things eternal," and above all to have that love for his fellow-men that will enable him to persuade them to accept the loving sacrifice of a risen Christ.

Mr. Allen was followed by Rev. P. S. McConaughey, the new minister of the First Congregational church, Salem, whose theme was, "What Kind of a Congregation does the Preacher Need?" He briefly set forth that it was important to have a united congregation, an earnest and devoted body of persons, who believed something, and in so believing made thoroughly aggressive Christians, who would make themselves felt in every avenue of life, and be the means in God's hands in supplementing the work of the minister in bringing souls to Christ. The work of the church could be successful only where there was thorough consecration upon the part of both minister and people, and an earnestness of purpose in humility, yet positively, teaching and receiving the great evangelical truths upon which vital religion is founded, and without which there can be nothing but a hollow mockery, having the form of religion but without its substance, and without any life-giving power to immortal souls.

The session closed by resolutions of thanks to the people of Forest Grove for their hospitality to ministers and delegates in providing [illegible] entertainment, and to railroad companies for reduction in fares.

Upon invitation by the delegates of the Salem church it was determined to hold the next session of the conference at that place on the last Tuesday in October next.

The session was well attended and harmonious throughout, also very profitable to all present. The fellowship of the churches was strengthened, and in separating from each other and going to their respective homes, a feeling obtained in all hearts that it was very good for them to have met together to consider questions which take hold on eternity.

The minister from Albany, Rev. J. V. Harris and his wife, were prevented from being present by the severe illness of a loved daughter who will probably never recover. President J. F. and Mrs. Ellis appointed a committee who drafted resolutions expressive of the sympathy of the conference in the great trial they were undergoing. G. H. R.

NOTES FROM THE DALLES.

THE DALLES, April [illegible].

The Oak [illegible] Social Club gave another of their series of entertainments last Friday evening. Although the attendance was small, all who were present agreed that the club has given no pleasanter party this season.

Building operations in the city are just now unusually active. The foundations for the brick block on the corner of Court and Second streets, and for the brick buildings in the next block west are completed and the brick layers will begin work at once. The [illegible] building on the corner of Third and Court streets will soon be ready for occupation. The large brick warehouse of the Wood Packing Co., located near the eastern end of the city, is approaching completion. One or two residences are being built on the bluff, and several smaller buildings in different parts of town are in process of construction.

The society of the Congregational church held their annual meeting Monday evening. The various officers and committees made reports, and by the treasurer's report it was found that the indebtedness of the church is a little over $[illegible]. About $250 was raised at the meeting, and a resolution carried that an attempt be made to clear the debt at once by subscription. The meeting adjourned for one week, at which time officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

Although there was an unusual interest taken in the proceedings of the county convention this year, yet its action on almost every question is universally approved, and the ticket is considered an excellent one. If exception were to be taken to any part of the proceedings it would probably be to the resolution instructing the delegates to the state convention for Blaine. If the republicans of the county do not become careless from too great confidence, there will be no difficulty in electing the entire ticket.

The copious showers of the past three days has given the country about The Dalles the appearance of an extensive meadow. Stock men and farmers have every reason to rejoice.

PROCLAMATION.

To the Rustlers from the West.

You came to Oregon to make money, of course, you did? The chances are good you'll make it, but they are no where else so good as at

LA CAMAS,

The new manufacturing town, located on the Columbia river, fourteen miles east of Portland. There is room for traders, in all lines, for manufacturers, speculators, farmers, doctors and everybody else.

Take notice that this is not a town site boom gotten up on some future [illegible], but the actual development of a splendid water power by moneyed men for the money there is in it and that work has been going on for a year.

To control the water a few thousand acres of farm lands had to be bought. This the water power company does not desire to keep, and it is offered for sale in lots to suit. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are to be invested immediately in various manufacturing enterprises to use the water power. A paper mill now being built will employ 150 hands. A new [illegible] mill will bring the trade of a large and fine agricultural country. There is room and opportunity to develop a real western town of 10,000 inhabitants in a few years.

This is an advertisement, of course, but if you'll come and see me I will prove to you it's no humbug, and show you a way to make some gold dollars and a home.

Maps and circulars on application.

D. H. STEARNS,
Agent La Camas Colony, La Camas, W. T.

A private party will loan on diamonds, watches and bonds from $[illegible] to $300, at one-half bankers' rates. Address, confidentially, [illegible], this office.

Returned.

Uncle Myers, proprietor of the Loan Office, 191 First street, has just returned from Eastern Oregon on business [illegible].

Repairing.

Carriages and buggies repaired, re-trimmed, repainted and varnished in the best style and on short notice. Telephone No. 23. [illegible] call and estimates free of charge. North Pacific Manufacturing Co., W. Jackson & Co., proprietors.

I have just received a new full line of spring overcoats and suits which I have displayed in my [illegible], and a magnificent line of hats equal to any hat store in the city. Also a beautiful stock of gentlemen's underwear. I'd call attention to my large supply of the very latest styles in neckwear. ANDREW ROBERTS, First and Alder streets.

THE TAX LAWS.

SCIO, April 23.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

While almost every issue of THE OREGONIAN has articles on the tax law, as well as the mortgage tax law, in all its bearings, legal and equitable, the taxpayers, and particularly the borrowing taxpayers, are coming to the conclusion that it is best to do away with all exemptions and tax all tangible property. If the corporations now loaning money in Oregon wish to withdraw their loans if the next legislature will only make our tax laws plain and simple, money can be borrowed at much less than the usual rates now paid with the security which mortgagors have to give.

The position taken by THE OREGONIAN on the question is the only safe and practicable one, and of the greatest benefit to the borrowing class. I hope that you will keep on in well doing. LINN.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

Resume of the Grain, Produce and Provision Trade for the Past Week.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—[Special.]—Since our last weekly review the Liverpool market has given slight signs of improvement. California cargoes just shipped and nearly due have advanced 6d per quarter each. At Liverpool shipping club has advanced 2d, and red American spring 1d. The local market has been more bouyant, and although sales of new shipping have not been very pronounced, on account of the small number of vessels now loading, values have a stronger tone and have advanced about 2½@3¾c per cental. The Chicago market showed a marked advance on Saturday, but reacted early in the week. The report of the state agricultural society for 1884 has been received. This society a year ago reported an estimate for the wheat crop of 1883 at 31,000,000 bushels. This is considered by many as being far below the probable truth, and some estimates that double the amount have found currency on 'change, and also in other quarters. The society, however, after collecting all its returns, gives the total crop of 1883 at 32,650,870 bushels. It is difficult at the present time to give a reliable estimate of the crop of 1884, but officers of the call association are figuring on an increase of 30 per cent over last year, which would give a crop of 48,000,000 bushels, or about one-tenth of the total wheat crop of the entire country. Of course there is a wide margin to be allowed for accidents of various kinds. During the past week only two grain vessels have cleared. Both went to Great Britain with 23,156 centals wheat valued at $36,757, against 268,576 centals valued at $432,082 the previous week. On call sales of No. 1 white, at morning sessions, have been larger than for some time past. There is a little more inquiry for tonnage, but chartering is light. The amount under engagement to load wheat at this port is 17,485, against 23,108 at a corresponding period of 1883, showing a decrease of 5613 tons. The asking price for wooden vessels to Cork is 30s.

Flour.—The supply of interior brands is large and the market is inclined to be in buyer's favor. Trade is fairly active. Exports for the past week were 60,581 barrels, valued at $288,512. One full cargo was manifested for Great Britain.

Barley.—The market for No. 1 feed has a soft tone. There are quite a number of buyers in a small way, but holders do not press sales at ruling rates. The spot market has declined 2½c during the week, but receipts have been light, which has kept it in better shape than if the reverse had been the case. Brewing is less in seller's favor, and trading is not heavy. On call there is [illegible] No. 1 feed, although sales are not so heavy as earlier in the season.

In oats the trade has been quiet and sales were slow. Common descriptions are hard to place at any figure. Extra choice lots for milling purposes bring an outside figure.

There have been shipments of 22,000 pounds pressed hops by sea to Australia; otherwise the outward movement is slow.

Receipts of potatoes are now free and buyers are more plentiful. Dealers are more disposed to make concessions.

Liberal receipts of onions have come to hand during the week from Oregon and prices are lower, ranging from $1 75 to $3 50 per cental on wharf, according to quality.

Domestic Fruits—Strawberries have not as yet made any great display. With freer supplies prices will go lower, which at present ranges from 75 cents to $1 per drawer. Choice table apples are scarce. Oranges are in fair supply. Mexican limes have advanced.

Vegetables—There have been free arrivals of asparagus, but the demand has fallen off and values are quotable lower. Rhubarb is in good supply and demand. Squash is lower. Green peas are in good supply at a range of 3@5c for common and 5@7 for sweet.

Butter—The depots are overstocked and buyers have liberal stocks to select from. The market is weak.

Eggs—The market is easier under liberal consignments from the east.

Poultry—Rainy weather and the bad condition of roads in the interior has prevented large receipts during the past week. On Tuesday arrivals were free and prices of all kinds took a tumble.

Dried Fruits—Sun-dried apples have advanced. Apricots and peeled peaches are higher. Stocks are well reduced and the market has a steadier tone.

Provisions—Beef products are in light supply and prices are firm. Mutton is in fair supply and prices are weak. Eastern hams sell at a low figure. Hogs are firm.

ENGLAND.

ENGLAND CALLS A CONFERENCE.

LONDON, April 24.—The English government has sent invitations for a proposed conference regarding Egyptian affairs to all the powers which signed the treaty of Berlin. It estimates that Egypt is now in need of a fresh loan of £8,000,000, in order to meet the most pressing requirements only, and points out the difficulty of devising a guarantee for such loan, inasmuch as all the resources of Egypt are already pledged. It proposes no solution of the difficulty, but considers that the reduction of the Egyptian army would effect a large saving.

THE ARREST OF FITZGERALD.

LONDON, April 25.—The arrest of P. N. Fitzgerald, the alleged fenian, in London was made the subject of discussion in the commons last night. William O'Brien called attention to this "[illegible]" system of secret arrests and secret inquiry. Sexton condemned private examinations. Harcourt, home secretary, repudiated the charges of inhumanity brought against Trevelyan.

CLIFFORD LLOYD IN TROUBLE.

LONDON, April 24.—[Special.]—Clifford Lloyd, present British under secretary of the interior in Egypt, it is rumored, is to be disgraced. It leaked out to-day that Lloyd had been summoned by Gladstone to report at once in London, and will be expected to give good reasons for his return before being allowed to go back to Cairo.

THE ARNOLD [illegible]

LONDON, April 24.—Apropos of the Arnold hoax the Pall Mall Gazette expresses surprise that the Chicago Tribune and leading literary men of the country could mistake an article so crude and so full of bad taste for the genuine production of Matthew Arnold.

LIVERPOOL GRAIN MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, April 24.—Breadstuffs have a hardening tendency, with an active demand. Flour is unchanged. Wheat, winter 7s 5d@8s 2d, spring 7s 5d@7s 8d; California, 7s 6d@7s 8d, club, 7s 11d@8s 0d. Corn, new 5s 2d, old 5s 3½d.

THE WAR IN THE SOUDAN.

ENGLAND'S POLICY WITH REGARD TO RELIEF.

LONDON, April 24.—The final decision of the government regarding the expedition for the relief of Berber has been postponed until the arrival of Sir Evelyn Baring and General Graham Monday. After to-day's council at Cairo General Wood advised that the government expedition should consist of 5000 Egyptians and 500 English troops. General Wolseley, at the cabinet meeting yesterday, insisted that no advance should be made until after the rising of the Nile. General Wood recommends General Greenfell for command of the expedition.

THE WEST INDIES.

THE SITUATION IN CUBA.

HAVANA, April 24.—The troops are still unable to catch Aguero. The authorities continue to maintain dead silence, thereby exasperating the public into the belief that the worst is happening. Many disbelieve that Duran is killed. Gold premiums rose as high as during the first insurrection. The Aguero party has divided into three sections, thereby disconcerting the troops. Aguero is supposed to be staying in the Zapata swamps. It is rumored he was again offered a sum to leave the island.

GERMANY.

NOTES FROM BERLIN.

BERLIN, April 24.—The emperor has been forbidden by his physicians to go to Wiesbaden. His health is now growing better. He performs all his routine duties, and daily sees Bismarck and the crown prince.

The crown prince accepts the honorary presidency of the Prussian state council. Bismarck, vice, Hofmyer, becomes secretary. The royal princes, field marshals and generals are standing members.

IRELAND.

VERDICT OF GUILTY.

DUBLIN, April 24.—The jury returned a verdict that Elliott, Wards, Byrnes and Fitzpatrick were morally and legally guilty of the murder of Mrs. Smythe. The judge concurred, and sentenced each to ten years' penal servitude. Wards and Elliott professed innocence.

ITALY.

CARDINALS TO BE CREATED.

ROME, April 24.—The pope holds a consistory about the end of June, when he will create several cardinals. Eleven vacancies await disposition.

Wedding.

DUBUQUE, April 24.—Miss Mabel Graves, daughter of R. E. Graves, president of the Commercial National bank, was married this evening to Mr. C. W. Hills, auditor of the Pacific Coast Railroad Company. They departed for California.

FOR IMPROVEMENT OF THE MISSISSIPPI.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Members of the Mississippi river commission to-day appeared before the house committee on levees and improvements of the Mississippi river, and President Comstock of the commission explained the plan of improvements adopted and said it would, in a commercial sense, pay the government to expend $75,000,000 or $100,000,000 to get a depth of over ten feet from St. Louis to New Orleans.

CULLOM'S BILL SELECTED.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The senate committee on railroads has unanimously agreed to report, with a few minor amendments, the bill prepared by Senator Cullom to establish a commission to regulate interstate commerce, and for other purposes. The bill has been printed.

Will Senator Bayard Specify?

New York Herald, Ind.

In his letter to the Iroquois club Senator Bayard made this sweeping assertion:

"The evils of maladministration are everywhere apparent; they are confessed in many and proven to exist in nearly every department of the executive branch."

The executive branch of the national government comprises, besides the president's office, the following departments: State, treasury, war, navy, post-office, interior and justice. Senator Bayard declares that evils of maladministration are confessed in many and proven to exist in nearly every one of these departments. Where are the confessions to which the Delaware senator refers to be found? By whom and to whom were they made? And where is the proof which he alleges to exist of abuses in nearly every department? Will Senator Bayard give the public specifications of his wholesale charges?

There will be a widespread curiosity to learn of these, because there is a general impression that the various executive departments of the government are now pretty honestly and efficiently administered. The only matter that Senator Bayard undertakes to specify is the star route frauds. But these have been exposed and thoroughly reformed by the party under whose administration they were practised.

We were not surprised to find in Mr. Tilden's letter to the Iroquois club the assumption that everything in all the departments at Washington is bad and growing worse, for this is the old gentleman's pet hobby and his chief political stock in trade. The public has also become somewhat familiar with the plaintive appeals of our esteemed contemporary, the Sun, to "turn the rascals out." But Senator Bayard has been looked upon as a thoughtful, conservative democratic statesman, not given to exaggeration or political clap-trap. Hence we were not prepared to find him indulging in the extravagance of expression so common with less moderate and conscientious public men.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

THURSDAY, April 24.

The week's rainfall has been important, and cold in its temperature. The last four days will have a backward influence upon all crops. The entire length of the valley has been visited by rain, as also several parts of the eastern section. Grain in Umatilla county is looking well, fall showing a hight of about one foot. The acreage sown in the upper country is believed to be less than for last year. In the valley it will be fully up to previous seasons, if the spring sowing is as large. The yield should be larger. Of fruit crops very little can now be said, as it will require some time yet to ascertain in just what condition orchards are. California crops promise fully as well as of late. The rainfall at San Francisco for the present season is 29.32-100 inches. Throughout the United States crops are in good condition, yet it is doubted if the acreage is as large as last year. Eli Perkins predicts the finest crop of winter wheat ever raised in the United States. He says that throughout the winter wheat belt fields are looking unusually well, and nothing is to be feared from insects. On being asked what would be the effect of this great crop, he replied that "American wheat would be laid down in Liverpool for $1 per bushel, and that would break up wheat raising in Europe. They can't raise wheat at $1 per bushel on land worth $500 per acre. It will be seemingly hard on the American farmer, this cheap wheat, but it will be a blessing in the end. It will open new and unknown channels for American wheat, and after this year our country will raise wheat for the world. I predict a yield of 600,000,000 bushels of wheat in this country this year." In most minds Mr. Perkins is looked upon as the champion liar of America; but he is an observer, and when he makes a statement off the platform that is based on personal observation, it is another matter.

The week has shown important changes in the quotations of Oregon stocks on the New York boards. To-day's opening quotations are all lower than for last Thursday. The declines submitted [illegible] are as follows in all stocks: N. P. common 2½, preferred 1¼; Trans. 3, O. I. stock ¼, bonds 5; O. R. & N. stock 4½; Western Union 2¾; Pacific mail 3; N. W. 1¾; Lake Shore ¾; Erie 2¼. O. R. & N. touched 71 and Improvement 21. The [illegible] week shows that the tumble is not altogether due to a loss in earning powers, but rather to a general depression.

For the week two steamers have arrived from San Francisco with the usual assortment of merchandise. The Norseman is in from Liverpool with cargo consisting principally of 200 tons salt, 8,000 bxs tin. She also has a large quantity of chemicals and 50,000 second-hand grain sacks. The Walla Walla landed 2000 tons Seattle coal, and the Gypsy came in to day with 500 tons from the same port. Overland receipts have been steadily large, but the slow dispatch is complained of. A few lots have come to hand in short order, but there is much that has evidently been side-tracked. Latest receipts by rail include 25 bxs tin, 600 cs coal oil, 100 csks 100 qrs 250 hfs beer. The outward movement consisted of two regular steamers with 15,000 bbls flour and other produce, three domestic lumber cargoes and three foreign wheat cargoes.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours: 641 ctls wheat, 1904 bbls flour, 690 ctls oats, 253 ctls bran, 108 ctls millstuff, 485 sks potatoes, 5157 lbs hides, 80 [illegible] eggs, 12 bxs fruit, 12 bxs butter, 30 bls hay, 381 bbls lime. Also 6785 ctls wheat from the eastern section.

Receipts for past week aggregate 67,202 ctls wheat, 8607 bbls flour, 2152 ctls oats, 146 ctls bran, 1182 ctls millstuff, 1604 sks potatoes, 106 bls hay, 21,044 lbs wool, 32,575 lbs hides, 36 pkgs butter, 434 cs eggs, 70 bxs fruit, 569 bbls lime, 2090 sks flaxseed, 4579 lbs hops.

Receipts by leading lines of transportation since August 1 last, as compared with a like time last season, have been:

FREIGHTS—Our tonnage statement is materially changed to-day. In brief, the movement was one arrival, three departures and two added to arrive. On spot no new business is reported, and rates are nominal at 45s for iron and 39s for wood for orders. Sailings consist of the Merom, Highland Light and City of Carlisle, all with wheat, one going to Antwerp. The Olive Southard has cargo well in and will get away next week for the continent. The Henry Villard was taken on private terms to come from Tacoma for wheat. At San Francisco the outlook is better. An iron ship was taken up for orders to four ports at 33s 6d, and to-day a wooden bark is reported at 32s 6d for U. K. orders or continent. The asking rate of iron from this river has resulted in the taking of two vessels to load with Oregon flour at San Francisco. The last cost the shipper 33s 6d, and 10s is said to cover cost of transportation to ship. As yet no business is talked of for salmon loading, doubtless because there is no scarcity of tonnage looked for. If anything has been done for next season it is kept very quiet. The outlook is promising for a very large wheat crop on this coast, but the grain markets are in such a condition as to render future business quite of a speculative character. This shippers are in no position to work against at this early date. That freights are now as low as they will go is generally conceded, and a healthier market for the owner believed to be certain.

WHEAT—The local market has ruled dull and almost without interest. A few sales of valley to millers have been reported in the interior on basis of $1 47½@1 48 here. An Albany miller reports purchasing 5000 bushels on basis of $1 41, which would be the lowest price of the season. As an offering price $1 47½ must be given as the extreme. There yet remains several good-sized lots in different warehouses, and more in farmers' granaries. The request for seed purposes was filled by remaining stocks, farmers not caring to risk a repetition of the experience of last spring. At this time last year San Francisco was sending wheat into the valley, and arrivals here were completely cut off. Now we are receiving liberal shipments from both the valley and eastern sections, those from the latter being very large. In eastern Oregon and Washington qualities no buying is now reported, arrivals being on previous purchase and largely coming from Snake river. A nominal quotation here would be $1 40 on wharf. The Olive Southard is filling up with this quality and the S. R. Mead will soon follow. Other markets show more of interest to the seller. London cargoes have advanced about 1s per quarter or 5c per cental in the week, and a much better tone is manifest. That this has come in the face of the fact that imports for the past week of wheat were double those of last week and exceeded those of any previous late week, and that flour imports were rather above the average, show an undercurrent of feeling exceedingly cheering. The Pacific coast wheat cargoes are arriving out in short order, and an unusually large number of good passages are recorded. At this date a large number of the December fleet have reported themselves in 119 to 120 days passage. The next two weeks promise to see the fleet of 1883 very nearly discharged. Liverpool spot values are relatively firmer than cargoes. New York has ruled unsettled. Chicago shows a much better front and options have advanced. San Francisco for two days was active, [illegible] spurt. As soon as buyers were loaded they dropped out, leaving values rather weaker, yet quite satisfactory.

The aggregate supply of wheat in sight in the United States (exclusive of California and Oregon and Canada) April 18 was 27,941,400 bushels, and of corn 17,157,100 bushels, against on the preceding weekly exhibit an aggregate of 29,580,000 bushels wheat, and 17,713,900 bushels corn; and an aggregate of 22,349,950 bushels wheat, and 18,223,000 bushels corn at the corresponding date the preceding year.

Washington advices make the aggregate exports of breadstuffs from the United States, in March, equal in value $17,458,166, against $17,841,283 in March of last year; and from January 1 to March 31, $[illegible] 514, against $49,4[illegible] same quarter 1883; and from July 1 to March 31 $120,796,040 against $157,273,025 same time in the preceding fiscal year.

FLOUR—Shipments to San Francisco for the past four steamers have averaged 7500 bbls. This mostly goes into ship for Europe. The direct export movement hence has closed for a time. Puget sound and down river points continue to take freely. The local market is quiet but steady. Quote standards $4 75, others $4 25@4 50.

MILLSTUFF—Liberal arrivals have furnished jobbers with plenty of the home product, and less is coming from California. Prices from first hands are well maintained and jobbers rates are unchanged at: Bran, $18; chop, $25; middlings, $25@30; ground barley, $25@27; oil meal, $35.

POTATOES—The market enjoyed quite a spurt for a short time, but at the close rather weaker values and a much less confidence prevails. Several large lots went below, but arrived too late to take advantage of the best prices, and are being held. At present buyers are bidding down and 57½@60 cents can only be quoted for best Garnet Chili's. Some holders are asking more. More fluctuation is promised.

ONIONS—Market very soft and few care to touch them at any price. Several shippers are reported to have been bitten by the late drop below. A nominal quotation would be [illegible] here.

HAY—Market shows no change, and we still quote $17@18 for baled. Loose comes in slowly at $17@19.

PROVISIONS—Values generally weak, and only the firmness of holders prevents a decline. The Chicago markets have ruled weak and irregular. We quote: Bacon, [illegible]; shoulders, [illegible]; country cured hams, 13@14c; best local do, 16@17c; eastern 16½@17c. Lard—eastern pailed, 13½@14c; kegs, 11½@12c; small tins or common, 12½c, local best in tins, 13@13½c.

DRIED FRUIT—Market quiet and slow. Very little home product in. We quote: Sun dried apples, 9@10c; factory in boxes, 13@14c; eastern in barrels, 10c; pears in boxes, 15c; pitted plums in boxes, 16c; sun dried plums pitted, 13@15; peaches in sacks, 13@14c; Oregon prunes, 12c; others, 8@9c; figs, 20c; raisins, $1 75@2 for full boxes.

CHEESE—Quiet at 17@18c as to quality.

FRUITS—Receipts almost nothing. Apples nominal at $1 75@3. Oranges irregular, with California in light stock and of soft quality. Values range from $3 00 to $6. Lemons $6, and bananas $4 50.

VEGETABLES—California products and [illegible] include all varieties. Ruling prices are: Cabbage, 2¾c; cauliflower, $1 25; rhubarb, 10c; asparagus, $1 00@1 25.

POULTRY—Supplies rather more liberal. Chickens sell at from $6 to $7 50, ducks, $12@13; geese, $9@10, turkeys, 15@17c.

EGGS—Values firm at 18@20c, with future values hinging upon receipts.

HIDES AND SKINS—A firm market is had. Quote dry selected 18@19c, culls, 13c, green salted, 7½@8c. Tallow, 6@7c.

WOOL—Beyond preparing to handle the new clip operators are doing nothing at present. As noted last week a few small lots from mutton sheep have passed through but no new wool has been received here. The late backward weather gave way for a few days to clear and warm, but at the close this has in turn been followed by cool days. In some places what promised to be a forward season is retarded. As to values there is nothing of a local nature to report. Operators here are not prepared to say how prices will open. They depend upon the condition of other markets and willingness of the seller. At present the selling markets are promising. Late New York mail dates report that the dull and unsatisfactory condition of the market has been intensified by the continued absence of buyers and a further falling off in demand. The failures reported among eastern manufacturers have also added to the general depression, and with most of the mills as well as the warehouses at the primary markets stocked to their fullest capacity, the outlook for any immediate increase in demand for raw material is, to say the least, unpromising. Samples of new spring clip California and Texas, are beginning to arrive, and represent good quality, but views of holders are too far above those of buyers to admit of business. [illegible] however, there will be a [illegible] in the former, and that individuals are favorable for [illegible] prices at present [illegible] with the [illegible] condition of the market for manufactured goods. For [illegible] abundant supply and [illegible] are not inclined to increase their stocks in view of the present slow outlet for such products.

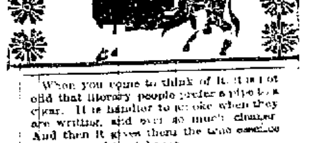
A thorough trial will give positive proof of this.



When you come to think of it, it is not odd that literary people prefer a pipe to a cigar. It is handier to smoke when they are writing, and ever so much cleaner. And then it gives them the true essence and flavor of the tobacco.

The most fastidious smokers among all nations and all classes of men agree that the tobacco grown on the Golden Tobacco Belt of North Carolina is the most delicious and refined in the world. Lighter than Turkish, more fragrant than Havana, freer from nitrates and nicotine than any other, it is just what the connoisseur praises and the habitual smoker demands. The very choicest tobacco grown on this Belt is bought by Blackwell's Durham Tobacco Co., and appears in their celebrated Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco. It is known the world over. Get the genuine, with Bull trade mark, then you will be sure of having absolutely pure tobacco.
